—A South American letter says that the Governments of Chili and the Argentine Republic have resolved to submit their boundary question to a tribunal of arbitration. —The Chicago Tribune of to-day prints the marital correspondence between Mr. and Mrs. Tilton, extending over a term of four years and up to within three months of Mrs. Tilton's alleged confession. These letters make over four pages of the Tribune. They are an extraordinary sample of passionate affection on both sides, contain frequent allusions to Mr. Beecher and his visits to Mrs. Tilton. They were given the Tribune correspondent by Judge Morris, Mr. Tilton's counsel, and are undoubtedly genuine.

—Intelligence has been received from Captain Cameron, Chief of the Canada Boundary Survey Commission, that he was within sight of the Rocky Mountains. He passed through that section of country in which it was apprehended a difficulty with the Indians might be met, without having encountered anything of the kind northwest. The police force will follow the same route to some extent, and the indications are that they will also be undisturbed. Another surveying party has left for Manitoba to engage in the Canada Pacific Railway Surveys. They propose going via St. Paul.

—A European correspondent writes that news has reached Berlin that China has pushed forward 19,000 picked troops to the Kashgar frontier, and in addition placed large garrisons in the town of Barkerel, and troops have moreover been concentrated in the north, in Tarbakatai, Keldo, and Urjasirtai, and which can be readily made available for war with Kashgar. It is proposed to attack the latter country simultaneously from two sides. At St. Petersburg it is believed that in that event Russia would at once come to the assistance of Kashgar, moreso since China is known to be arming also for war with Russia.

SAD SUICIDE IN JERSEY.

The House of an Episcopal Dean in Mourning.

The facts of a very sad and painfully humiliating suicide in Morristown, N. J., have just leaked out, the victim of his own rash act being none other than Mr. Albert Merritt, brother of Rev. Mr. Merritt, Dean of the Episcopal Church and rector of St. Peter's. Deceased was a young man of about twenty years and unmarried, had been for years a resident of his brother's house, and is said to have been given to habits of dissipation. One day last week, as the facts are given, he returned home after a season of prodigality, and asked money from the Dean. He was refused. He then asked for a revolver. This also was refused. He then left the house and sought to procure laudanum in several drug stores. Two refused him, but the third, not knowing him, yielded and gave him two ounces. This he swallowed and then retired to the graveyard and lay down to die. In the evening he was found still alive and removed to his brother's. For twenty-four hours the physician tried to save his life but without avail. He died on Friday night last. The facts were carefully withheld from the reporters.

"FAIR POINT."

National Assembly of Sunday School Workers.

Location of the Camp—Rest, Recreation and Religion—The Attendance at the Assembly—The Order of Exercises—Pittsburghers Present, &c.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

THE "ASSEMBLY" GROUND,
FAIR POINT, August 10, 1874.

"Well," said a Pittsburgh friend, as we concluded a ramble and sat down to discuss the cup that cheers but never inebriates, "What do you think of it by this time?"

Does'nt it seem to you," was the reply, "that the three R.'s are pretty well exemplified here."

"How's that, I dont catch it. Excuse me if I follow the fashion and speak in figures. The triple R 's to me here seem to be Rest, Recreation, Religion."

"All of which," remarked my friend, interrupting, "I do think are well illustrated in this gathering. The Assembly I consider a grand success."

I had only been in the camp ground for about a day, and of course, was not expected to have reached the altitude of my companion's enthusiasm, as it was a matter of several days' growth with him; nevertheless my afternoon's saunter had convinced me that his jubilations had a solid basis, composed in three essential particulars, the first of which was the Location of the Camp.

Half of the battle was fought when the selection was made, for certainly in all the attractions of accessibility, healthfulness, surface conformation and beauty of woodland, "Fair Point" falls not a whit behind its fame. The land juts out upon the mirrory surface of one of the most beautiful lakelets in christendom, and presents two frontages to the water, somewhat in shape like the two sides of a square. In the angle thus formed there is the first plateau which extends backwards from the water's edge, at a slightly perceptible incline for about a quarter of a mile, where a terrace is reached with an inclination of about forty-five degrees, and about fifty yards from the base to the summit. Above this terrace is the second plateau, with a somewhat heavier grade than the lower land, but easy of access by horse or foot, and stretching away for about half a mile, where the land spreads from the forest into the open and luxuriant farms beyond. There are about fifty acres, and an army of respectable proportions might find comfortable accommodations upon the ground, and the army of Sunday School workers now gathered here, has no reason for complaint at lack of room for expansion. The whole ground is covered with a thick growth of the very tallest products of the little acorn and the chestnut, and from the margin of the lake to the utmost limit of the camp ground, whatsoever direction was taken, one walks under an almost continuous canopy of leaves, through which only sufficient sun light penetrates to make daylight. As a last attraction, generally a pleasant air sings through the trees, holding in check Summer's fiercer heats, and waking an atmosphere that renders one's waking hours full of exhilaration, and sleep, after the shadows fall, full of invigoration.

Nature did this much, and then man, embodied in the Chatauqua Camp Ground Association, came in several years ago to complete the work. The lay of the land suggested the plan of operations. The lower plateau invited occupancy for "the circle" and the central portion was enclosed with the first row of cottages, two story in height, Gothic in style, and some of them quite ornate in finish. To the east of the circle nearest the lake is the Preacher's stand, a structure not unlike a Chinese pagoda in appearance, with a spacious platform in front. The pulpit stand is on this platform, and piano, organ, sofa, and other articles comprise its furnishment. Wherever possible, festoons of evergreen are entwined around the posts or fall in graceful loops from the arched dome. A profusion of small national flags and Chinese lanterns heighten the effect of the stand, which presents the finest appearance when illuminated at night.

Before the Preachers' stand are seats for the accommodation of perhaps two thousand persons, while room is still left to crowd in as many more. In the rear of the inner circle of cottages, are other tents and cottages, filling up every available space on the terrace and back to the second plateau. The design was to preserve the form of a crescent, but, as the ground now appears, every one seems to have consulted his own sweet will, and these temporary dwelling houses are therefore straggled along in picturesque confusion, some of them being located at the farthest limit of the ground. Westward, avenues intersect each other at right angles, and generally commemorate the fame of some one eminent in the denomination, whose name and record is held in precious memory. Every Bishop, I believe, has thus been honored, and other dignitaries of equal fame. I did'nt take the trouble to figure up the number of cottages and tents to a mathematical nicety, but learned from official sources that there were over three hundred. Then there is the Tabernacle, an immense tent strongly suggestive of the delights of the sawdust ring. It is located on the second plateau, and across the avenue are the two boarding halls, and two restaurants where the hungry multitude find abundance. There are other features of the ground, such as the Holy Land; the springs with scriptural names, from which bibulous refreshment is taken; the swing, where the children drink in inspiration; the mystic fountain where the waters spout up from mossy beds, and sparkle upon the flowers and grasses and ferns, and the miniature lakelets surrounding; the statues scattered here and there, and each typical in character; the postoffice and the telegraph station; rustic seats for those who wish to enjoy a view from the lake shore; the croquet and the sail boats, and other arrangements for bringing the conveniences of civilization into the sylvan solitude without destroying the beauty of nature's retreat.

In addition to all these, the arrangements for the meeting are in the most perfect system, and carried out with a degree of accuracy that indicates an overruling mind with a strong bent toward military discipline. The order is perfect. The rules of the camp ground are explicitly carried out, in every particular, and the visitor who was enticed to come by representations made by the managers, finds that in cost, in beauty, and in a "feast of fat things" in an intellectual and spiritual way—there has been no false pretence, that the glow of the prospectus was but the true reflection of the actual reality.

The second essential to success, is

The Attendance.

This you will remember as a National Assembly, under the patronage of the M. E. denomination, although unsectarian. It is not a camp meeting in the ordinary acceptation of that term. It is a gathering of Sunday School workers called expressly for bible study, and a discussion of Sunday School interests. Under the circumstances, a goodly demonstration was anticipated. In numbers the Assembly is not so large as I expected to meet, but in character it fulfils the highest expectation. I had travelled about a hundred miles from Pittsburgh when the rumor reached the train that there were "ten thousand people on the ground." Fifty miles further five thousand more were added to the list, and just before Chatauqua was reached, the aggregate had swelled to the respectable proportions of twenty thousand. I reached the ground and found about six thousand people on hand. It was "children's day," and Saturday, so that an unusual throng had been gathered. Saturday night the transient visitors disappeared and the number of regular campers was reduced to about three thousand. This may not seem very large in figures, but it makes a splendid array on one camp ground, and its character is much more impressive. It has been my privilege to witness many gatherings similar to this, but never one which seemed to be its equal in point of intelligence, culture, and earnestness. There are delegates from nearly every State in the Union. In one meeting a delegate from Maine followed the remarks of one from the Texan border, and one from Alabama was succeeded by another from Minnesota. The people comprised all ages, from the little infant to the white-headed patriarch, but as a general rule they took rank among the younger and middle ages. A feeling of genuine earnestness seems to prevail and the specific object of the gathering is kept in view, so far as I could see, above everything else. The speakers seem to talk not so much for the purpose of carrying off the honors as for the purpose of disseminating information. There is little flash and flirt among the young girls and an almost entire absence of snobby and foppish airness among their antipodes of the male persuasion.

"Oh, dear me," remarked a bright faced and vivacious maiden of the demure age of sixteen, "Its so dull here; not at all like a watering place; I don't like to study all the time."

The unanimous and hearty yet kindly, disapproval which this sentiment received convinced the unfortunate miss that she was an exception to the general rule,—that she stood alone in her longings for watering place excitement.

In a word, the flower of the M. E. church is largely represented in the throng with a judicious sprinkling from the best element of other denominations, suggestive of the pleasure and profit there is in "brethren dwelling together in unity" of heart and of specific purpose.

The Services

are of a character demanded by the other surroundings. Bible study being the primary object, a normal course divided into three sections or terms has been mapped out. The first has been finished, and the second term has now been entered upon. Work commences at eight o'clock with "family worship," held in the public auditorium. Bible study specifically at nine o'clock—a sort of teachers' meeting—sometimes followed immediately by general chat on Sunday school topics led by Dr. Vincent, then preaching at 11, or a lecture. The afternoon is taken up with a lecture and reports from the morning session—a sort of review of the forenoon's work; and in the evening there is an entertainment, either a panorama, a stereopticon exhibition of pictures, a sermon lecture or short addresses, winding up at 9:30 with music on the lake, or fire works, and at ten o'clock, the bell is rung for all hands to turn in and all lights to turn out. This is about the average programme for a day, but circumstances such as a rain fall, sometimes makes considerable modifications. All the services are held in front of the preacher's stand—the average size of the audience being about 1,500. Sometimes, however, especially at preaching services the whole camp turns out, and then the enthusiasm runs high. It's easy to "get up an interest here"—like touching a powder magazine with a quick match.

Of the exercises in general, it is true, that they are of the highest order, some of the "great guns" of the country are here and there is a corresponding noise. There is less of fancy theorizing and more of the practical, the earnest, the real genuine metal of truth and hard common sense than I have ever seen exhibited at any Sunday workers' gathering. "Gush," you know, is too often the ruling element in public assemblages, political as well as religious, and the Assembly is not altogether free from its afflictive dispensation. So far as my observation goes, however, it is ruthlessly repressed here; Dr. Vincent, Dr. Townsend Dr. Chapin, Dr. Ives, Dr. Fowler, and men of that stamp who rule, do not deal in the article, and the people are not of the class to whom a poverty of ideas can be concealed by a rattling volubility of tongue. There is a culture, and tone with the meeting that reserves no enlarged place for sentimental gush.

I have been thus somewhat general in these hastily sketched lines, but perhaps the reader can catch an idea of the general features of the Assembly which has been the object, and details can come in place again. Indeed it would be impossible for me to give in anything like fullness a tithe of the record, without covering a space beyond any ordinary limit. There is so much work done, that columns of matter might be printed that would find interested readers among Sunday School workers of all denominations in Pittsburgh. Take, for instance, the programmes of Saturday and yesterday. Saturday was Children's Day, fully 6,000 people were on the ground, several Sunday Schools from neighboring towns having taken excursions to Fair Point. The morning was devoted to lecture, black-board exercises and Sunday school services generally. Afternoon to a grand conclave, when addresses were delivered by Mrs. Jennie F. Willing, of Illinois, Rev. W. F. Croft, of New York, and author of "Through the Eye to the Heart." A blackboard entertainment of comic pictures on the Nast order by Frank Beard of New York, who draws with a facility almost equal to Nast. And then in the evening there was a panoramic view of the Holy Land, given by Rev. Mr. Perrine, who had the panorama painted from sketches made principally by himself on the ground.

Yesterday (Sunday) the gates were closed, and all was as quiet as a day in a country inland village. The chief event was a model Sunday school, with about a thousand attendants. It was regularly efficered, had a corps of about fifty teachers, principally superintendents from all over the land, and was under the pastoral supervision of Rev. Dr. Vincent, who made a closing review at the close of the lesson, that for pith and point, for elevation of tone, and a comprehension and a simplification of all the salient features of the lesson, was by far the best model I have ever seen, read, or heard of. That may seem a little strong, but it only expresses the general sentiment.

In the afternoon there were two meetings, one for the children—a singing meeting—in the tabernacle, and another for adults, at the grand stand, where Dr. Vincent, Dr. Ives, and others, discussed the "best method of increasing spiritual life in the school." The sermons of the day were by Dr. Marling, of Toronto, in the morning, and Rev. W. C. Willing, of Illinois, at night, the latter being followed with an address by Rev. Dr. Ives, of New York.

This morning, Dr. Fowler, of Chicago, was to hold forth, but the torrent came down, and that was postponed.

Talmage, who pays his expenses out of his $500 fee for coming, is announced for Wednesday.

Personal.

Pittsburgh and vicinity is pretty well represented in the Assembly, and not by Methodists alone. Of the ministers, Dr. Hodge, of the North Presbyterian Church, has been in attendance, Rev. Messrs. Snyder, Davidson, Vernon and Watkins have also been on hand. Among the laity I noticed Messrs. Sidney Omohundro, Charles Mills, Mr. David Robinson (Presbyterian), Messrs. Murray and Gillespie, First Methodist Church, Pittsburgh, T. K. Cree, W. K. Jennings, (Presbyterian.) Mrs. Wm. Vankirk, Master Willie Vankirk, Miss Minnie Greer, Mrs. Rev. Dr. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Gallagher, of Beaver, Rev. C. W. Smith and wife, of Canton, Ohio, formerly of Allegheny, Rev. J. M. Carr, a former Allegheny minister, Rev. T. H. Wilkeson, of Connellsville, and others whose names I cannot now recall. Pittsburgh's contribution of attendants I understand is about one hundred, and nearly every leading church in the "twin cities" is represented. I expect revolutionary echoes will be wakened when these good friends get back home, flushed with new enthusiasm and filled with a fresh stock of information which must be allowed to expand. But there now I've spun out enough for to-day.

TARENTUM CAMP MEETING.

The Beginning—Opening Sermons—Wednesday's Services—The Grounds—Improvements—Cottages—Prayer-Meeting. Tent, Preachers, &c.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON,
August 12, 1874.

Yesterday evening the services of the meeting began. A sermon was preached by Rev. S. M. Vernon, pastor of the Emory M. E. church, Pittsburgh. Text—"Wilt thou not revive us again, that the people may rejoice in thee?" The sermon was excellent, appropriate, practical and earnest. It was the key-note of the meeting we struck.

An experience meeting was held this evening at 8 o'clock. The speaking gave evidence that the speakers came to this feast of tabernacles determined to do duty, and to labor earnestly for the advancement of the Redeemer's cause.

At 10:30 A. M. Rev. Mr. Steppy preached a sermon on "The Causes of Christian Rejoicing." Mr. Steppy is pastor of the M. E. church, Indiana, Pa. He is a comparatively young man, of good appearance and pleasant address. He found it warm work to preach, the thermometer lifting the mercury in the shade up to the neighborhood of a hundred degrees. The audience was not large. This afternoon at 2¼ o'clock Rev. W. Pitt Turner, pastor of Trinity M. E. church, Pittsburgh, preached. Text—"The Precious Blood of Christ." Mr. Turner is an excellent preacher.

The camp ground is in splendid condition. The recent rains have washed and beautified it. It is an inviting spot. During the present year many improvements have been made. The old unseemly boarding tents at the upper end of the ground have been removed, and their sites laid out in lots on which cottages will be built. A large hotel has been erected for the accommodation of both lodgers and boarders. It is presided over by Mr. Eakas, who, for several years past, has kept a boarding tent. He did well before, and now, with his improved facilities, he ought to do much better; no doubt will. His terms are reasonable.

Perhaps a score of new cottages have gone up this year. Some of them, indeed most of them, are pretty, cozy, homes. They are comfortably furnished, and make camp-life rather a pleasant thing.

A prayer-meeting tent has been erected at the upper end of the enclosure. It is a hexagon, well and strongly built, and painted white. It is a queer looking affair, and if it were not on a camp ground no mortal would ever dream it was intended for a prayer-meeting tent. It may be ornamental but never can be useful. It is capable of seating a hundred persons if densely packed. The architect who drew the plan of the thing has disappeared; diligent search has been made for him but he can't be found.

Most of the cottages are already occupied. Many of them have been for weeks past. The city churches are well represented. A majority of the cottages are owned by them.

Other places are also represented—villages and country. Quite a number of families are here from Freeport and other towns in the region round about.

There is no lack of preachers, nearly a score being present.

The prospect for a large and successful meeting is flattering.

Your readers may expect a daily report.

WOOL GROWING.

The Amount Produced in Washington and Greene Counties.

From an article in a Waynesburg paper we learn the following facts in relation to wool-growing in Western Pennsylvania:

"In the amount of wool produced Washington county stands first. This is one of the oldest wool counties in Western Pennsylvania, if not the oldest. Sheep were herded and farmed there pretty extensively when many of the surrounding counties had but few if any flocks. The clip of Washington county in 1870 amounted to nearly nineteen hundred thousand pounds, since which time there has been a considerable increase. The clip this year will be considerably over two million pounds, selling for nearly a million and a half of dollars.

"Our own county comes next. Very little attention was paid to sheep here in the early history of the county, and it has only been within the last quarter of a century that we have held a prominent place among the wool counties of the State. For a number of years past, however, interest in this direction has been increasing, and we have very few farmers now who do not own and take care of some stock of this kind. In 1870 our clip reached nearly four hundred and fifty thousand pounds, and we hear it estimated that this year's clip will go over a hundred thousand better, bringing nearly three hundred thousand dollars in market. If we advance at the same rate for the next six years, the census of 1880 will give an immense exhibit.

"In its quality of sheep and wool, as in the number and amount, Washington is probably foremost. Wool growing has been carried on there so long and so extensively, and so much attention has been paid to breed and grade, that some of the finest stock in the Middle States is to be found in Washington county. In this matter however, we will soon be alongside. We are glad that our wool-growers have been paying increased attention to this point within the last few years. We have a number of men who exhibit a praiseworthy pride in sheep-raising that is doing wonders for the credit of the county. After a few years we will acknowledge no superiority whatever in this direction."

THE BROOKLYN SCANDAL

Reporters Hunting the Investigators.

Moulton's and Beecher's Statements to be Published Simultaneously.

NEW YORK, August 12, 1874.

Moulton's Statement Still Held Back.

Mr. Winslow, of the Plymouth Church Investigating Committee, said to-day it had been arranged that Moulton's statement should not be made public until Beecher's statement had been heard by the Investigating Committee. Both statements will be published simultaneously.

It is stated that Moulton, Tilton, and the latter's lawyer, Morris, have all left town.

Reporters Hunting for News.

The movements of the Beecher Investigating Committee are daily being more completely wrapped up and veiled in impenetrable mystery, as this evening, for more than hour, no trace could be found of them. Visits were paid by members of the press to Mr. Shearman's and Dr. Storrs' residences, but no clue to their whereabouts could be obtained. Mr. Beecher's house on Columbia Heights was fixed on as the only place the committee were likely to be, and the sidewalks in consequence were thronged with newspaper reporters. About half past nine o'clock Mr. Hill drove up in a buggy, accompanied by a strange gentleman, and entered the house. Mr. Willard O. Bartlett, Mr. Shearman and Mr. Hill entered a short time before. None of the members of the committee were observed to enter, and it is supposed they had gone there at an early hour.

The committee adjourned about half past eleven, but would give no information as to their movements. Mr. Moulton's statement, however, they said would not be made public to-night, nor could they say when it would be ready. It is not known whether Mr. Beecher was before the committee, its members being reticent on this and every other question of like import.

POLITICAL.

Independent Mass Convention in Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, August 12.—The Independent Mass Convention advertised to meet in this city to-day, convened at Masonic Hall, at 11 o'clock. The whole number of delegates present did not exceed seventy-five. The Second, Third, Fourth, Tenth and Twelfth Districts were not represented.

The Convention was called to order by Mr. Olleman, Chairman of the Central Committee, and Hon. A. C. Stephenson, of Putnam county, was chosen President unanimously and introduced as a veteran farmer of Indiana.

Mr. Olleman reported that Noyes S. White had declined the nomination for Secretary of State and Clarkson Davis for Superintendent of Public Instruction. Norris G. Burnett, for Treasury of State, and Judge Biddle, for the Supreme Court, have accepted. James S. Mitchell, for Attorney General, sent a letter neither accepting nor declining. With reference to Mr. Henderson, the candidate for Auditor, Mr. Olleman has other information than what Mr. Henderson himself said at the 10th of June Convention.

Mr. Penton offered a resolution, which reads as follows:

WHEREAS, Ebenezer Henderson, the nominee of the Independent Convention held in this city on the 10th of June for Auditor of State, and James Mitchell, the nominee for Attorney General, have not accepted the nominations tendered them, and

WHEREAS, They are guilty, identified and acting in harmony with one of the political parties declared by the Independent Convention to be as now organized engines of oppression, crushing out the lives of the people, therefore

Resolved, That their places on the ticket be declared vacant.

After discussion the resolution was adopted, whereupon Mr. Shipler, in an excited manner, denounced the thing as a political trick by professional tricksters, and withdrew from the Convention. He declares that he will never act with any party that was so corrupt in professional principle.

The Convention then adjourned until two o'clock.

On resembling, Judge Campbell, of Lasalle, Ill., was introduced to the Convention and delivered a lengthy address, after which the Convention made the following nominations to fill vacancies: For Secretary of State, S. Bowles, of Fountain county; Auditor, D. J. Prescott, of Posey county; Attorney General, Wm. A. Peele, of Wayne county.

The following resolution, submitted by the Committee on Resolutions, was adopted:

Resolved, That we adopt and reaffirm the platform of the Convention of the 10th of June last.

Pennsylvania Prohibition State Convention.

PHILADELPHIA, August 12.—The State Prohibition party's nominating Convention at Harrisburg adopted a radical platform, favoring prohibition of the liquor traffic. The following nominations were made: Lieutenant Governor, Benjamin Rush Bradford; Judge of Supreme Court, Simeon B. Chase; Auditor General, Calvin Parsons; Secretary of Internal Affairs, W. P. Cutherston. A State Central Committee was appointed, with James Black as Chairman.

Anti Prohibition Convention in Michigan.

DETROIT, August 12.—The State Anti Prohibition Convention met here this morning. About 300 delegates were present.

The resolutions declare that public policy demands a radical change, that prohibitory legislation has had no other practical result than an increase of the very evils intended to cure; declaring in favor of imposing a tax or license upon the liquor traffic, but not as a penalty upon those engaged in it for perpetrating a wrong, nor as a compounding it with immorality and crime, such a tax is fully justified as a means of public revenue, and that such tax may be imposed under the present constitution.

The resolutions also favor stringent laws to punish persons for adultery, and that by the passage of a license law, the business of retailing liquor be confined to responsible and honorable men, and the character of the business elevated, and the public morals improved.

Election in the Indian Territory.

PARSONS, KANSAS, August 12.—Dispatches received here to-day indicate the election of the Progressive candidate of the Choctaws for Governor of that Nation. An election was held on August 5, for the purpose of choosing a Governor, Legislature and all principal officers of that people. Returns already received show that the Progressive (a Liberal) party have made great gains in members of the Legislature, and the probable election of the Governor. Should this party succeed, it will have an important bearing on the adoption of a territorial form of government, the allotment of lands, and the advancement and final triumph of the principles advocated by Colonel Boudinot and other enlightened and liberal citizens of the Indian Territory.

Massachusetts Labor Reform Convention.

SOUTH FRAMINGHAM, MASS, August 12.—The annual State Labor Reform Convention assembled to-day to consider matters relating to the approaching Gubernatorial contest and the interests of the party. There was a fair represenation from different sections of the Commonwealth, the attendance, however, not being as large as in regular nominations, as the platform had been proposed. E. M. Chamberlain, of Boston, called the Convention to order, and made the opening address. He reviewed the ten hour law passed by the last Legislature, and his hearers to continue their efforts for the eight hour law to apply to factory operatives.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, August 12, 1874.

A Novel Marriage Settlement.

Among the papers recorded at the Register's office yesterday was the settlement made by Leonard W. Jerome and wife, in view of the contemplated marriage of their daughter Jennie with Lord Randolph Henry Spencer Churchill, son of the English Marquis of Blanchford. Under this marriage settlement Thomas M. Foote, of this city, and George Charles Spencer Churchill, Marquis of Blanchford, are constituted trustees to receive and pay over an annuity of $10,000 in gold; and it is stipulated that in case Lady Churchill (Miss Jerome) should die before her husband, leaving no issue, that $125,000 in gold shall thereafter be paid to Lord Churchill, and further provision is made for the payment of $250,000 in gold to their heirs, should both of them die leaving issue of their marriage. The Union League Club House is made security for this settlement.

Meeting of Railroad Managers.

Yesterday a private meeting was held by a number of the most prominent railroad managers. Among those present were H. J. Jewett, of the Erie Railway; Thomas A. Scott, of the Pennsylvania Railroad; W. H. Vanderbilt, of the New York Central; Wm. Bliss, of the Boston & Albany, and W. K. Muir, of the Great Western Railway of Canada. The object for which the meeting was held was to discuss all matters concerning freights. After a long discussion the meeting was adjourned with the understanding that another should be held for the regulation of all questions relating to the passenger department.

A Mortgage on Beecher's Property.

On a record book in the Register's office of Brooklyn, there is a mortgage signed by Henry W. Beecher and Eunice A. Beecher, his wife, for $5 000 on their Columbia Heights residence. It is dated May 1st, 1873, and sworn to before Justice of the Peace Suedker, before whom Theodore Tilton swore to his statement charging Mr. Beecher with adultery. Horace Webster, President of the Brooklyn Savings Bank, is said to have made the loan. The mortgage was given about the time Beecher's son Henry became involved in his lumber business in Albany, but it is strongly hinted in Brooklyn that it was procured to meet a sudden demand from another quarter.

MISSISSIPPI.

The Riot in Austin Ended.

The Provisional Troops Disbanded.

Austin Occupied by Negroes.

MEMPHIS, TENN., August 12.—Parties who arrived by the steamer St. Francis state that the negroes occupied Austin at two o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Capt. Jas. Lee, of the steamer St. Francis, says that after the negroes who had Austin surrounded were repulsed yesterday, they disappeared, and a story was soon circulated that they were murdering the women and children left unprotected on the surrounding plantations, which caused the men who had been defending the place to start for their homes to protect their families, and Austin was soon left without any defenders, except one or two white men. The negroes came in and took possession and proceeded to break open the saloons and stores and help themselves, and at last accounts had committed no acts of violence towards the few whites who were unable to get away, but as they were becoming drunk there were fears of their burning the village. They sent a messenger to Capt. Lee, asking him to land there, but he had a large number of refugees on board, some of whom the negroes had threatened to kill, among whom was Dr. Phillips, late Republican member of the Legislature. The refugees begged him not to do so, and he passed on up without landing. General Chalmers came up on the steamer St. Francis to Peters' landing, where the St. Francis met the whites with the reinforcements from here. He was requested by the Deputy Sheriff, in the absence of the Sheriff, to take command of the men, and went back with them. Gen. Chalmers is a man of well known courage and coolness, and his being in command gives assurance that no blood will be unnecessarily shed. It is proper to state that politics has nothing to do with this trouble, and that Major Woodson and a number of men who have been proscribed by the negroes, are Republicans.

The Military Quarrelling.

At Bennett's landing, Col. Morgan held a council, and stated that it was too hazardous to make an assault upon the blacks entrenched at Austin, for want of proper authority, suitable numbers and ammunition, and preferred landing at Moon's, above Austin, where he could put himself in a better plight, and await executive authority. General Chalmers came on board and objected to landing at Moon's, and insisted on landing at O. K. or Shoo Fly, most of the officers agreeing with him. To this Col. Morgan objected, as being in the midst of the enemy, and subjecting the command to an immediate attack from all sides while unprepared for it. He then ordered back the commissary supplies which had been landed, and Capt. Finley's company, which had been thrown out as skirmishers, and calling his officers together, told them he felt that it was his duty under the circumstances not to take the risk. They demanded that he would carry the command first. To this most of the officers objected and Col. Morgan resigned, and Gen. Chalmers was elected as commander and landed at Shoo Fly.

An Appeal for Help.

The following has just been received:

HELENA, August 12.—To Thos. Haller & Co.—Send us reinforcements by the St. Francis; send guns with fixed ammunition. If possible send rations for ten days for five hundred men.

(Signed) J. R. CHALMERS.

The Appeal's special, dated 11th this morning, says: Some Mississippians, stragglers from the force which left Memphis yesterday for Austin, arrived here this morning on the "White," and put up at Ortway's Hotel. The colored people, unable to understand the presence of an armed squad of men, became much excited. About nine the Mayor obtained possession of the arms and had them put on the wharf for shipment by the first steamer. On the arrival of the little steamer Trader, the Mississippians, escorted by the Mayor, Sheriff and other officials, and followed by a large crowd of negroes, were marched aboard the Trader and shipped to Austin, bag and baggage.

Dispatch from Governor Ames.

The following has just been received:

JACKSON, MISS., August 11.—Col. Marion Campbell, of Helena, was yesterday requested and authorized by me to suppress the riot at Austin, to the end that peace may be restored and life saved.

(Signed) O. AMES, Governor.

Excitement in Memphis.

The excitement here in regard to the Austin riot is becoming more intense, owing to unfounded rumors of young men of this city being killed in the attack on the place. The following is posted about the city: "Reliable men wanted, to report on board the steamer St. Francis at four o'clock this day. Arms and ammunition will be furnished to them. Also three hundred men, well armed and equipped, to report at the same time and place. About twenty good artillerists are wanted. General King White, of Arkansas, will assume command of the above men." This poster has added to the excitement. It is thought several hundred will go to-night on the St. Francis. Three pieces of artillery are expected from Lonecke, Ark., this afternoon.

Peace Restored.

Evening.—The latest reports from Austin state that the improvised troops had disbanded and gone home, and that peace was restored. The impression prevails here that a few determined men could have prevented the whole affair at the outset, by meeting the negroes before summoning help from elsewhere.

THE CAPITAL.

WASHINGTON, August 12, 1874.

Trouble with China in Prospect.

The participation of certain officers of the United States service in the movement of the Japanese Government against the inhabitants of the Island of Formosa is likely to cause some embarrassment between our Government and that of China. The latter claims to have jurisdiction over the Island of Formosa and its people, and any proceedings on the part of American citizens of an unfriendly or belligerent character against the said island or people is a violation of neutrality. One of the officers connected with the Formosan expedition is Lieutenant Douglass Cassel, of the navy. General L. Gendee, ex-U. S. Consul, is also attached to it.

Agricultural Reports.

The annual report of the Department of Agriculture will probably not be published till after the meeting of Congress. The appropriation for printing this report, contrary to precedent, is to be disbursed subject to the order of the Commissioner and not of the Public Printer, as heretofore. The latter refuses to print it unless the appropriation is placed to his credit, which Commissioner Watts refuses to do. The cotton crop presents a better appearance now than at the last monthly report, except in Tennessee and Arkansas.

Arrival of Indians.

A delegation of Omaha Indians, numbering ten chiefs and head men, arrived to-day, in charge of Indian Agent Dillingham. The principal object of their visit relates to the sale of a portion of their reservation to the Winnebagoes.

CAPE MAY TOMATOES.

First-class dealers will please make a note of it that we are now taking orders for fall delivery for our well known brand of three pound tomatoes.

IN QUALITY these goods will sustain the superiority that has been their's from the first day the brand was put upon the market.

IN STYLE and general appearance they will be found not only equal, but more attractive than most tomatoes. As we use the removable label, our tins present a handsome shelf appearance, and our cases help to a great extent to dress up a store and give to it a neat and finished look. (No extra charge for this.)

IN PRICE, we are determined (on account of Tomatoes being retailed at a small profit) to give our trade the benefit of the low figures we secured by our extensive purchase.

THE Chinese Government is reported warlike toward both Russia and the United States.

THE Austin riot still continues, and confused and contradictory telegrams leave the situation in doubt.

THE recent feat of trotting, by Goldsmith Maid, in which she made her mile in 2:15¼, is a subject of comment in other than "horse" circles. It is regarded by very many as evidence of the steady improvement in the speed and endurance of American horses, a fact of pride in more ways than one.

AFTER ALL, Rochefort is of some use. His revived Lanterne has been sold, openly, in large numbers, in Brussels, and carried into France. As a result of his exposure of the capricious cruelty of the authorities of New Caledonia, the French penal colony from which Rochefort escaped, the Government of MacMahon has resolved on more humane treatment. So Rochefort may be very properly thanked by the prisoners on that unhappy island.

WE hope the outcome of all the discussions had relative to the water works and engines will not be to involve the city in fresh entanglements. This perpetual discussion has grown to be wearisome. If a well-settled, unalterable policy could be fixed upon, and the work hurried on to completion, it would probably be gratifying to all concerned. At all events, the perpetual discussions of the subject, while admitedly important, have grown to be a trifle wearisome.

A STARTLING revelation is made, by two French scientists, that northwestern Europe is in great danger of drouth, owing to the lack of rain supply during the past winter. Their observations, extended over a series of years, show that the summer rain falls exert but little influence on the soil, as the moisture is speedily evaporated, and does not reach the springs at all. And when there are dry winters, drought is quite sure to follow. Last winter was very dry in the region referred to, and hence the prediction.

THE Spanish Republic, as a result of the kind offices of Germany, is to be recognized by the great powers of Europe. This is a master stroke of German diplomacy, before which even England bows its head, and for which Spain will be duly grateful. The recognition that will soon be formally accorded, will go far toward establishing the Government of Serrano, and of suppressing Don Carlos. The effort is made to divest the movement of all significance, but it is regarded as none the less important, because of this. Spain may yet be destined to play an important part in the politics of Europe.

WHEN the Dispatch wishes to adopt our views we are not disposed to seriously object to the rabid abuse with which it prefaces its acceptance, although it is not very polite to villify the source of its ideas. It is an old adage, that one should "praise the bridge that carries him safe over," and very suggestive is it in meaning. We appreciate the keen anxiety of that journal to have us follow its dictum as to local nominations, but we are of the opinion that we comprehend the situation quite as accurately as it does, and know what policy to follow. Certainly we do not purpose to adopt the suggestions of a journal with which changeful "influences" are very potent.

GENERAL BUTLER'S coat tails appear, at last, in the Brooklyn scandal. What a beautiful list of persons have come up to the surface, as in some way mixed up in this scandal. Tilton, the biographer of the Woodhulls, the various woman's rights cliques, the free love Woodhulls, and all of that element of agitators, which has foisted itself on the country, as a disturbing force in politics and society. Last of all, Butler appears, as a compromiser! What Butler thinks should be compromised must be bad indeed. This last phase of the affair puts it in such a terrible light, that it only needs Andy Johnson and George Francis Train to be thrown in to make it complete. What a pity Train is not in this country.

THE detailed account of the escape of Marshal Bazaine is strongly suggestive, either of collusion within the fortress, as well as without, or of the actual desire of the government that he attain his liberty. If the latter idea be correct, we may rely on a great apparent show of anger, and a fussy effort to secure control of his person again; but the Marshal will be very likely to so situate himself as to be free from impertinent annoyance. If at Brussels, or at any point within the Germanic confederation, there will not be much doubt of his safety, even if an army should be sent against him. The Germans were very much impressed with the Generalship and skill with which he fought the battle of Gravelotte. They regarded him as the ablest French General of the war.

CUBA is a wonderfully prolific island, as regards the productions of the soil. Even last year, despite the long continued civil war, and the small area under cultivation, sugars and molasses to the value of $77,500,000 were exported to this country, much of it in American vessels. Of our imports of sugar and molasses, last year, eighty per cent. of the former and ninety per cent. of the latter came from Cuba. In these facts may be seen the value of that island to us. Were the condition of war ended, and the people at liberty to freely pursue their occupations, and particularly were there a considerable infusion of American capital and energy, there is no clearly established limit to the productions of that wonderful island. Interest as well as humanity prompts to the ultimate acquisition of that fertile land.

THE Commissioners of Fifth Avenue Improvement are very seriously considering the propriety of paving over the Soho fill, thus completing their work, and turning it over to the city. The city officials are anxious it should be done, in order that the city may not be compelled to pay another year's interest on the bonds, —about $30,000. It is argued that wise economy calls for the completion, even if some part is relaid a year or two hence. Until the street is completed, the assessments cannot be availed of, and thus the city must pay interest, out of its general fund, to the amount of $30,000. The contractor will give bonds to keep the street in condition, at a fixed price, thus avoiding uncertain expense. The heavy rain, on the night of the flood, failed to disturb the Soho fill, and it is argued from this, and the fact that the fill was made in layers, and during the freeze and thaw, the rains and snows of Winter, that it is now quite solid. The importance of this to the city generally turns on the fact that the reduced income from rural taxes necessitates close economy. If a saving of current expense of $30,000 can be made, by completing five hundred feet of paving, it is assumed it should be done. The convenience to the public of having that street fully ready for use when it is opened, the saving to the general tax-payer, and the actual reduction of expense, seem to favor the views the Commissioners wish to adopt, that of fully completing the street, and turning it over to the city, thus ending their work.

SO THE Moulton testimony is withheld, and the Beecher complication takes on a darker phase. Garrulous Shearman avers that all is right, and that the mystery and hesitancy shown is solely in the interest of others than Beecher, but that all the clouds can be dissipated as though a calcium light shone through them. He thinks the papers wish to revel in scandal, and are anxious to convict Beecher and everybody else. On the other side a story suddenly starts up, that when Beecher found that Moulton was disposed to testify in full, he suddenly weakened, sent for, and confessed to his committee, who at once set to work to manipulate Moulton, so that only so much of the case as Tilton had presented should be brought out, and even this in a manner favorable to Beecher, all of which was finally accomplished. Certainly it looks, at this moment, as though the latter theory were correct. Moulton's statement, if correctly outlined, suppressed the truth. In the meanwhile, Butler comes in, and active negotiations start up for a compromise. It looks very dark for Beecher. We do not believe, as a rule, the press desires to have him found guilty. They have hoped him innocent, both for his own sake and that of the ministry. But if he is an innocent man, he is in the hands of friends who have managed his case in a manner to inspire belief in the minds of the people that he is guilty. We can imagine no persons so important that he can afford to go down to let them escape. And if he is innocent, he certainly can explain the letters and statements which do not involve unknown parties; if he cannot explain, and the affair is hushed up, the public will render but one verdict, and that—guilty.

NATIONAL EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION.

We have already referred, briefly, to the annual meeting, at Detroit, of this important body, the influence of which, on our educational institutions, is necessarily very marked, as it is largely composed of prominent and influential educators. The first formal paper read before the Association was that on Preparatory Schools, Dr. Hays, of Washington and Jefferson College, this State, being probably its author, as it emanated from the Committee of which he was Chairman. Its leading thought was that there are already quite enough colleges in the United States in point of numbers, though the quality of many of them might undoubtedly be improved. But there are very few really good preparatory schools. The Committee thought that such schools might be counted on the fingers of two hands. The colleges are disposed to elevate their standards of scholarship and their requirements for admission as rapidly as possible. But they find very few preparatory schools that send their graduates to college decently prepared, even according to the present requirements. Until the tone of these schools is materially advanced, it is useless, said President Hays, to look for rapid advancement on the part of colleges. The suggestions of the report were adopted, after the obvious point that the colleges might compel a higher standard of preparation had been discussed.

Probably the paper that excited most interest was that of President White, of Cornell University, in favor of a National University, built, maintained and managed by the National Government. The subject is one concerning which there are decided differences of opinion among the leading educators of the country. President McCosh, of Princeton, strongly opposes the idea, while President White as strongly favors it. In his paper he maintained that the true policy of the National Government was to establish and endow a national university as the appropriate head of the American common school system, and as likely to force up to a higher standard the universities and colleges now existing in the country. He declared that at the present time not one university exists in America which can be considered as equal to any of the universities now standing foremost upon the Continent. Although the University of Berlin is a comparatively young institution, it far surpasses in completeness and usefulness any institution of learning in America. President White especially condemned the small denominational colleges, of which there have come to be so many in the United States. Almost all of them are weak, possessing feeble endowments and few pupils, and being ill-supplied with Professors and other apparatus. They should, as a general rule, thought President White, be turned into intermediate schools, like the German gymnasia, while the best of them might be continued as colleges and fit young men for the real universities of the country.

We believe in his idea, but not in his methods. Could a university be organized, on a basis so broad as to be able to claim the distinction of being regarded as a National university, and be favored with an endowment of say a million of dollars by the Government, but be remanded to the Trusteeship of men of National reputation, and then left to the generosity of our people, we believe that it would receive, from private benefactions, enough to fully supply it with needed funds for its great mission. A purely Government institution is not in the line of our customs and habits. Our free schools are local in their support and administration. It would be difficult to establish a connecting link between a National and local schools. Beside, we do not believe that existing colleges would surrender their places, and consent to be regarded as mere tenders upon another institution of higher pretensions. Of course, could the people be harmonized on the subject, it may be seen how the system might be arranged, but the root trouble is just here. A century in the future, this harmony may be reached, but by that time we will have universities,—for they grow, they are not made. It is just here that we think President White's theory defective. Europe cannot altogether compare with us, or we with it, as our theories and plans, both of Government, and its relation to education, differ. Still, President White's views were endorsed by the Association.

Hon. J. George Hodgkins, of Canada, explained the system of education there, claiming that in the permanency of inspectors, the exclusion of politics, and the maintenance of a fund for worn out teachers, they were in advance of us. The question of "sex in education" was the subject of three papers, thus showing that a deep interest prevailed as to that issue. Dr. Clarke, of Boston, whose work on the subject excited considerable interest a short time since, read the first. His argument was that from their constitutional peculiarities girls cannot safely be pushed at school as rapidly as can boys, and that any system of education which does not recognize this truth is false and vicious. Dr. Clarke is inclined, of course, to oppose the co education of the sexes, at least in the lower schools. This is the sum of his argument, as made there, and to this extent it was undoubtedly concurred in by a large number of the most prominent educators present. Prof. Olney, of Michigan University, and Prof. Orton, of Vassar College, both concurred in this view. The latter, in his paper, "Four Years in Vassar College," explained that young ladies were capable of acquiring a very high education, but he did not believe in co education, not from any fear of improprieties, but because girls are naturally so ambitious that they are always in danger of overworking themselves, and the competition with young men is by far too keen an incentive to them. So far from needing any incentive, Prof. Orton thought that most young ladies required to be held back in their studies. In both the papers mentioned, the same idea was differently elaborated, and the subject was considered, as may be seen, not from the standpoint of improprieties possible from the co-education of the sexes, but simply that of mental peculiarities, and the effect on health. The arguments and statements of facts were regarded as unanswerable.

The closing session of the Association was marked by several interesting incidents, worthy of passing mention. A monument to Agassiz was proposed. A young colored man, from North Carolina, who in 1867 did not know the alphabet, was introduced and made an excellent speech. A resolution was adopted declaring that the public lands ought to be set aside as a support for the public schools, and also one in favor of the creation of a national university. A committee of thirteen gentlemen was appointed, of which J. W. Hoyt, of Wisconsin, is Chairman, to lay this matter before Congress at its next session and to ask for the institution a suitable endowment. It was also explained how the magnificent bequest of Mr. John Hopkins, of Baltimore, of $8,000,000, would be used. If a National University were not voted by Congress—as it will not be—this is designed to aim at the distinction of being the first educational institution in America. It is understood that already the trustees of the fund have had some negotiations with President Eliot, of Harvard, looking toward his taking charge of the institution at a salary of $10,000 per annum. The fact that such a benefaction has been made is the strongest argument against the Government undertaking an enterprise of this kind. The $8,000,000 thus bestowed might be made the starting point, and with other liberal benefactions coming in, the time will be when we may have an institution that shall eclipse the best that can be found in Europe. The American people have shown a larger average liberality to educational institutions than have the rich of the old world. And could this liberality be concentrated on one institution, it would not lack for means.

POLITICAL.

THE Democratic Convention of Dauphin county was held on Monday, and the following delegates were elected to the Pittsburgh Convention: Senatorial, F. S. Seiler; Representative Delegates, Geo. Bailey, of Harrisburg, E. B. Cobaugh, of Middletown, and Frank S. Bowman, of Millersburg.

THE Woman's Journal swings its bonnet for Talbot for Governor of Massachusetts. "What women like in a statesman, the Journal explains, is integrity, positiveness, the courage of his opinions. This quality Mr. Talbot possesses in an eminent degree; and, from what it can find out, the Journal is satisfied that a majority of the Republican women of Massachusetts would vote for him.

FOR an overwhelming outburst of eloquence we venture to recommend that veteran Democrat, the Hon. James L. Pugh, who electrified the recent Alabama Convention by this glowing sentence: "We hear the roar of the black wave that had its formation in the overflowing bounty of the Federal Government, and it has continued to increase until it has accumulated sufficient power to drive its mad surges against the mountain barriers erected by Nature, but the glorious white cliffs of Caucasian supremacy, illuminated by eternal sunshine, will roll back this black sea and sink it forever from the face of this lovely land it threatens to desolate and destroy."

IT looks very much as though John Kelly and John Morrissey, who are now running the Tammany machine, were going to try and send back to the Assembly this fall many of the same men who have so long misrepresented this city in that body. This ought not to be. The bulk of those composing the New York delegation in the Legislature have long been a byword and a reproach to this city. In the words of one who was in the habit of dealing with them, "They do not know enough to move an adjournment, but they make first-class 'business men.'" Cannot the honest electors of each Assembly district compel both Tammany Hall and the Custom House to nominate for the Assembly this fall men who would at least make ordinary fish peddlers?—*N. Y. MISS CLARA LOUISE KELLOGG attended a ball at West Point some days since, and the number of buttons the admiring cadets cut off and bestowed upon her, in accordance with the West Point custom, as trophies to her captivating powers, was never before equaled in the history of that institution. Scarcely a youth in the academy that is not minus one button delivered to the fair prima dona.

JEFFERSON DAVIS was interviewed a few days ago on the Beecher-Tilton scandal, and, in giving his opinion, said that just after the conclusion of the war Mr. Beecher preached a sermon in which he urged that Jeff. Davis should be hung. "But," remarks Mr. Davis, "I cherish him no ill will on this account; give him a cold potato and let him go." Jeff. knows how it is himself, according to the statement of a sleeping-car conductor.

PARKER'S portrait of Senator Sumner, which has been presented to the city of Boston, to be hung in Faneuil Hall, was purchased for that purpose by about forty gentlemen. It is the last portrait for which Mr. Sumner ever sat, the final sitting having been given on the day before his departure for Washington in November last. It was painted for Thaddeus Hyatt, one of the most devoted friends of the great Senator, who consented to the disposition which has since been made of the picture.

MR. MURAT HALSTEAD notes this significant difference between English and American journalism in one of his letters from London: "Sunday last Dean Stanley preached a very carefully prepared sermon. It was a magnificent appeal to the nation in behalf of the Church. Half a dozen members of the royal family were present. If the sermon had been delivered in the United States it would have been generally published, and it is not unlikely that it would have been mutilated throughout the land by telegraph. I have not seen any notice of the sermon in the English papers.

A LADY WRITER, it is only ladies who have the courage to do such things, has been comparing the New York and Boston belles at Saratoga. She says that the latter are not so pretty or sparkling as New York girls, and lack that indefinite something which the French call chic and which we call "style," but many possess what is better, l'air distingue, and look fit for the wives of professors or presidents. Their dress is quiet, black silk or black grenadine, but they wear more false hair, have it more elaborately dressed, and display much more bustle and pannier than the regular "society" girls. For real, substantial beauty, however, the Pittsburgh belles are incomparable.

EX-MAYOR JOSEPH MEDILL'S summary disposition of Kossuth as a fraud, has called out a remonstrance from a nephew of the Hungarian patriot, Mr. Louis Ruttkay, who is practicing law at Des Moines, Iowa. He says: "As for Kossuth's mission to the United States, his numerous speeches very plainly show it. Had the ex-Mayor of Chicago taken the trouble to look into any of them, he could not have failed to see that Kossuth's great end and purpose was to commit this country to the position of enforcing neutrality in the renewal of the struggle for Hungarian independence, then believed to be impending. Kossuth's main proposition was that this country and England, as the great representatives of liberty, should see to it that in the event of another war between Hungary and Austria, that giant of despotism and the ruthless exterminator of the Poles, Russia, should not again interfere."

A GERMAN named Gottleib Weiss was found hanging to a tree on the hill back of Frank Walters' house, on the National Road, near Wheeling, Tuesday night. Wiess was fifty-two years of age, and leaves a wife and family. He was employed in Mr. Walters' vineyard, and was in comfortable circumstances.

A GIPSY, who claims that he has the power to lay down his life and take it up again at pleasure, has dug himself a grave on South street, near the pleasure grounds, Saratoga, in which he is to be buried August 20, and remain under the ground for two days. One of the village officers is such an unbeliever in this miraculous power, that he says if the gipsy is buried he will make sure that he will stay there.

THE Spiritualists are going to hold a national camp meeting at Lake Pleasant, Mass., this week and next. The grounds will be dedicated next Friday, with an address by John Collier, of England. Addresses will be given every week-day afternoon and on Sunday, the 16th, by Mrs. Nellie T. Brigham and Dr. P. Fairfield. For several days Mrs. Maud E. Lord, of Boston, will be present to give public seances for "physical manifestations."

ACCORDING to a Southern paper a student is each day detailed to watch beside the tomb of General Lee, in the memorial room of the chapel of the Washington-Lee University, Lexington, Va. He is styled a "watcher," and his duty is to remain there during the day and receive visitors, showing them the proper courtesy and attention. As there are nearly three hundred and fifty students, no one is on duty more than once a year.

HERE is the wail and the warning of an unhappy Nebraskan: "Don't come to Nebraska? Don't allow any one to come here, because it is h—ll here in the shape of 1,234,578,900,000,000,000,000 grasshoppers! There has been a light wheat harvest, and now every piece of corn and potatoes is ruined. Dave Hill lost his entire crop of corn—about fifty acres in all. Smith has lost all but two acres of corn. The fact is, desolation reigns supreme in the field. There is a fair prospect of want for the homesteaders, and, likely, starvation for some. Should like to borrow $100 of some one that we might escape the impending doom."

IN BOSTON this year there are no less than 2,350 pieces of real estate put up for sale for unpaid taxes. Last year there were 1,031 properties condemned and sold for this delinquency, so that this season there are 319 more, whilst the size of them is generally larger, and the aggregate delinquency considerably greater than last year. The Boston newspapers say that the dullness of business and the excessive speculation in real estate are the reasons of this increase. Dullness of business we imagine is but a secondary and minor cause —over speculation is sufficient to account for nearly the whole of these sales for taxes.

THERE are fifty life insurance and two accident insurance companies doing business in the State of Illinois. Of the life insurance companies, six are Chicago companies, and forty-four have their headquarters in other States. The total assets of the companies are reported by the Auditor of the State at $346,143,494 49, and their total liabilities at $330,521,518 65. The income of these companies amounts to $113,706,047 73, and the expenditures to $82,895,561 68. For the six Chicago companies included in the above, the losses and claims, adjusted and unadjusted, during 1873, amounted to $224,155 08, and the losses and claims resisted to $56,627, or about one-fourth of the whole amount.

THE Ringing Rocks of Pennsylvania, about which there was considerable discussion some months ago, have been matched by some sonorous sand found on one of the Sandwich Islands, a specimen of which has been sent to San Francisco. According to the description of the sand sent by its discoverer, two handfuls of this sand slapped together make a sound resembling the low hooting of an owl; the hand run quickly through the sand bank produces a sound like the bass of a melodeon, and by sliding down the steep side of a drift the experimenter gets the sound of distant thunder. The sand must be perfectly dry in order to produce any sound whatever. It may be carried away from the locality where it is found and retain its singular power.

THE GRAVEYARD.

How many come in weeds and woe,
And others come who never go;
And those who mourn departed friends,
At last come here when mourning ends.

O Grave! the living need thee more
Than these beloved ones gone before;
The dead but little thou dost give,
The living thou dost teach to live.

The grave is thing forever mute;
Men call it Silence absolute;
But, eloquent as ocean's waves,
There's naught so full of speech as graves.

The graveyard's air is full of words
As sweet as sweetest notes of birds;
For o'er above the silent dead
There's something waiting to be said.

This hillock, with its tufted crown,
Is soft as bed of eider-down;
Mine eyes involuntary close,
For all about invites repose.

"Whose sleep is dreamless slumbers best;
Here, here alone is perfect rest!"
Strange good-night speech, O Graveyard sage,
Thy words befit thy hoary age.

BORELLI'S COMET.

A Curious Phenomenon Reported by Professor Swift, of Rochester —The Astonishment of a Comet Seeker.

A dispatch from Rochester to the Boston Journal says a remarkable and unexpected phenomenon occurred on the evening of August 3, which, so far as I know, is without any previous parallel in cometary astronomy. The comet was lost to telescopic vision from half past eight to half past nine, and with the closest scrutiny could not be seen. Just before twilight had ended I repaired with my telescope to my nightly labors—comet seeking. A friend wishing to see the comet, I pointed my telescope to that part of the sky where I left it the night before, with the remark that, knowing its direction and rate of motion, I was going to hit it the first time. I failed; tried again, and failed again, and for fifteen minutes I was unable to find it, though there was not a cloud visible in the sky. Never was I more astonished, and not a little humiliated, for fear the friend should think that for these many nights I had been the victim of an illusion. I thought of that venerable martyr of science, Galileo, who, several months after publishing to the world that he "saw Saturn triple," again announced that Saturn was as round as Jupiter, and exclaimed, "Has my glass or some demon been mocking me?" I thought of the probability that after all the comet may have been only a piece of the tail of the one which has just left us, which, gathering itself together, had been giving us a sort of a side show, but the Beecher-Tilton scandal being the more attactive subject, had left for parts unknown. I then thought of the

and of its final disappearance, but it was not satisfactory. At last a happy thought struck me and one that seemed adequate to explain the mystery. It was playing hide and seek with one of the stars of the opposite sex, and I was determined to see just how they did it. There were but five stars that could possibly be guilty, and a look at them square in the face seemed to convince me that they were all innocent. I could almost imagine, however, that one, the brightest of the five, had a guilty, suspicious look. My friend was invited to look, but he could see no evidence of guilt. Again I looked closely at each till all had been examined and cross examined, but the evidence was circumstantial and unconvincing. The longer I looked at the brightest star (not visible to the naked eye, though nearly so) I was more and more convinced that the comet was centrally superimposed upon the star. I tried high and low powers, and I came to the conclusion that my eye, for many hundred sleepless nights trained to viewing faint nebulous objects, could not be deceived. I thought of that glorious and never-to-be-forgotten corona around the sun at the total solar eclipse which I observed in Illinois in 1869, and though that was ten thousand times brighter, yet this phenomenon brought that vividly to my mind. Watching the star for some fifteen minutes I was gratified to see

THE COMET SOLWLY APPEAR

on the right side of the star and slowly move onward toward another and a fainter star, which it also occulted nearly centrally some two hours after. Of course the comet was between us and the star, but its brightness overpowered the faint light of the comet. This is the first time I ever heard or read of a comet bright enough to be seen with an opera glass completely lost in a clear, moonless night. During the star's occultation I selected another star for comparison equal to it in brightness, and when the star was free from all cometary matter I again compared them, and, strange to say, they were still sensibly equal. What a wonderful fact is this for human study, and how convincingly it teaches us how little we know! This comet is undoubtedly 250,000 miles more or less in diameter, and yet two thicknesses of glass will hide as much light as 100,000 miles of cometary matter, whatever that may be. The comet is slowly

INCREASING IN BRILLIANCY,

yet it is without a tail or nucleus. It is moving a little over half a degree a day toward Alpha Ursæ Minoris. Its position is about midway between the last named star and Iota Draconis. Nothing is known as to its identity with any preceding comet.

LEWIS SWIFT.

LITTLE CHARLIE ROSS.

Wanton Cruelty to the Parents.

Mr. Childs, of the Philadelphia Ledger, is one of the gentlemen who first interested himself in the case of the abduction of little Charlie Ross, and he is one of the number who has offered the reward of twenty thousand dollars. The following editorial paragraph, therefore, from the Ledger of Monday, ought to silence at once and forever rumors which were always cruel and without the shadow of probability:

"It was a wanton cruelty, adding a crushing humiliation to a terrible affliction, to be suggesting that the parents of little Charlie Ross have any other knowledge of the disappearance of their child than that he was stolen, in order that the brigands might make money out of his abduction. There is not now, and has not been since the Fourth of July, any reason to believe in any other motive for the abduction than the money the robbers hoped to reap as the gains of their crime. The principal ground for the innuendoes, that there is another motive traceable to the business embarrassments or other private affairs of Mr. Ross, is the refusal of Mr. Ross to publish certain letters alleged to have been received from the brigands several weeks ago. As to this there is the best authority for the statement that Mr. Ross is conforming in this respect to the counsel of his legal adviser, and for the further statement that he has received no letter from the kidnappers, or any one claiming to represent them, which expresses or insinuates any other motive for the abduction than ransom, or which contains any abuse of Mr. Ross or any member of his family."

DAY FIXED

FULL DRAWING ASSURED.
MONDAY, 30th NOVEMBER, 1874.
LAST CHANCE FOR An Easy Fortune.

A postponement of the Fifth Concert of the Public Library of Kentucky has been so generally anticipated and is so manifestly for the interest of all concerned, that it must meet the approval of all. The day is now absolutely fixed and there will be no variation from the programme now announced. A sufficient number of tickets had been sold to have enabled us to have had a large drawing on the 31st July, but a short postponement was considered preferable to a partial drawing. Let it be borne in mind that

THE FIFTH GIFT CONCERT
IS THE LAST WHICH WILL EVER BE GIVEN UNDER THIS CHARTER AND BY THE PRESENT MANAGEMENT.

That it will positively and unequivocally take place as announced on

Monday, 30th November,

That the music will be the best the country affords, and that

FINANCIAL.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
THURSDAY, August 13, 1874.

The order of events, in financial circles, still retain their general summer evenness. There continues a slightly improved demand for discounts, and all the acceptable offerings are promptly taken at current rates, which are firm and rather high, especially as compared with eastern figures. In New York the rate remains undisturbed by the events of the past week and remains easy at 2 to 3 per cent. on call. The best mercantile paper is scarce and passes readily at 5 to 6½ per cent., the highest quotation for this class being 7 per cent. Names which buyers are not perfectly certain about sell very high. In Philadelphia, the rate is about the same, with a dull and weak demand. There are reasons, aside from the accumulation of money, why rates should be reduced. Money cannot be employed so profitably now as it could be a year ago, because the commercial and producing world has discovered that the production of the country has outrun its necessities. In other words, no one in the recent past has had the temerity to produce for a future market, because there has not been just yet an established assurance that prices will be in the near future higher than they are at present, and if they are not, loss on production must necessarily follow. The whole country is waiting for the time when it can be seen that present stocks are so lessened that the bottom may be touched. When that time comes, as come soon it must, there will be a revival of production of all the commodities essential to life and to comfort, followed all around by a demand for money to carry this necessary business forward. There will then be competition for this money now lying dormant, and without the lessening of the present amount a single dollar the price for its use, or the rate of interest, will materially advance. This should be recognized here as it is at the east.

There is every indication that the creditors of the Allegheny Valley road will accept the terms offered,—a very large majority having signed the agreement, and the sentiment being in every way favorable.

The New York Evening Post speaks of the revival of trade as follows: "The general dry goods trade, however, is believed to be sound, and, with every one moving cautiously, a safe and in other respects satisfactory business will, it is believed, be done between now and the close of the fall season. In other departments of trade there are signs of revival, the news being good even from such prostrate industries as the iron interest, on which the effects of the panic bore with special severity because so intimately connected with railroad building. When the abundant crops are fully harvested even those who are timid now will, it is fair to believe, take confidence; and with banking facilities enlarged and the currency agitation suspended, at least during the present Congress, which will continue until the spring of 1875 (for we have no hope of this Congress doing anything to bring about specie payments), the field will be clear for good times to the business community."

The most extensive liquidation this country has seen for seventeen years, at least, has been going on during the past ten months; and the fact that so few mercantile houses have suspended—and those few generally for reasons not directly connected with trade—shows to be true what we claimed throughout the panic, to wit: That when the panic came the mercantile community were in an exceptionally sound condition, and that the only dangerous expansion was in the department of railroad building, and that if the Treasury had then been under the management of a competent man, neither the banking interest, unless so far as bound up in railroad ventures, nor the business community need have been directly harmed.

Various unreasonable criticisms of the Treasury situation make it proper to say that Congress, by restricting the sources of revenue, has put it out of the Secretary's power to pay off much of the public debt. But the existing taxes are yielding more copiously, and this caused a decrease of $1,282,866. Hereafter no heavy reduction is to be looked for, and the only course open is to lower the rate of interest. This has heretofore progressed so slowly that only $316,000,000 have been funded during the last four years exclusively of fives, the four-and-a-half and four per cents. not having yet been touched. Secretary Bristow has made a new departure, but still confines his attention to the fives. He has also adopted the policy of increasing his currency balance, which now amounts to $17,000,000 against $5,000,000 in April last. This is a very favorable time for its accumulation. The gold balance has been drawn down by the payments on account of interest and other causes, and now is $37,000,000 against $27,000,000 of accrued interest. These figures show how far we have departed from the safe old rule of keeping a surplus of coin in the Treasury as a support to the greenback circulation. The amount of the unfunded debt is now $417,000,000, but this part of the public obligations causes no anxiety, as the recent law forbids any augmentation or diminution of the greenbacks. This brief summary gives a birds-eye view of the position of the various items in the accounts of the Secretary of the Treasury.

The gross earnings of the Denver and Rio Grand Railway, main line, 118 miles, for the week ending July 31, were $13,457 48, against $14,621 60 same week in 1873.

NEW YORK, August 12, 1874.

Money 2@3; prime mercantile paper 5@7. Sterling was dull at 486¾@487¼ for sixty days, and 490@490½ for sight. The customs receipts were $537,000. Gold was dull, opening and closing at 109⅝. The carrying rates were ½, 1 and flat. The Assistant Treasurer disbursed $40,000. The clearings were $18,000,000. The specie engagements for to-morrow's steamers are $500,000. Governments were firm. State bonds were neglected, except Tennessees old, $31,000 of which sold at 58, ex-coupon. Railroad bonds were moderately active. The stock market was quiet and steady at the opening, and afterwards became moderately active and firm and prices advanced ⅛@⅜ per cent., with the chief interest in Western Union, Pacific Mail and Union Pacific. Later on there was a slight falling off, which was followed by a marked improvement, with Union Pacific leading the list at an advance from 28¼ to 29¼. At the close of business the whole market was firm. Chicago & Alton advanced to 102 bid, on the belief that the directors to-day would declare 5 per cent. dividend. Nothing official was known at the close of business as to the decision reached. The decision in the Wisconsin suit is awaited with great interest. Among the sales to-day were 12,000 shares Western Union, 14,000 Pacific Mail, 9,000 Lake Shore, 12,000 Union Pacific, 5,000 St. Paul and 6,000 Ohios.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
WEDNESDAY, August 12, 1874.

The crop advices (says the Boston "Globe") are regarded with very different eyes. There seems to be no doubt that the lack of rain this summer and the abundance of insects have produced a material falling off in the yield. But this will probably be compensated in most quarters by the fact that an increased breadth was sown, giving to the Northwest all the grain needed for export and consumption. The most encouraging fact to those who hope for good prices is the unusual bareness of stocks of old grain in the hands of farmers. The open winter and low freights ever since the panic of nearly a year ago with an extraordinary shortage in Europe, caused a forward movement, the volume of which was unprecedented in the history of the West. Hence our farmers begin with clean cribs and many of them with full pockets, so that they can afford to hold back if prices do not suit them, and wait for buyers to name satisfactory figures.

APPLES—There is rather more inquiry, but the supply continues fully equal to the demand, and the market is generally reported dull, while prices remain about as last quoted: $1.50@2.50 ⅌ brl.

BEANS—Quiet and unchanged: $2.25@2.75 ⅌ bushel, as to quality.

BERRIES—Dealers nearly all report trade in Berries dull, with prices down so low as to afford little or no margin to shippers. We continue to quote Blackberries at 50@75c ⅌ bucket. Whortle Berries, $1.00@1.25 ⅌ bucket.

BUTTER—The market continues quiet, and prices, if anything, are weaker: commission men generally report that it is difficult to obtain over 23@25 even for the very best.

CHEESE—We can report a steady demand and regular sales of prime Ohio Factory at 12@13½c. New Ohio Sweitzer, 16@18.

EGGS—The market continues very dull, hence notwithstanding the arrivals recently have been comparatively light, the supply appears to be accumulating, and prices are weak but unchanged. We continue to quote at 12@13.

FLOUR—Is quiet, and prices remain unchanged: Spring wheat flours, $6.75@7 for Wisconsins; and $7.25@7.50 for Minnesotas and $6.50@7 for red winters. Our latest advices from New York report that market firmer.

GROCERIES—A late Rio telegram reports Coffee lower; there with a large increase in the receipts and stocks; the news, as might be expected, has added to the depression which prevailed prior to its reception. There is a continued steady demand for Sugars, and prices, in our market, are fully sustained, although our New York dispatch reports raws as declining, but this doubtless refers to refining Sugars; as good grocery Sugars are held at full rates. It is said that the consumption of raw Sugars is increasing, that people generally have discovered that there is much more strength in them than there is in refined goods, and, besides, they are much cheaper. Molasses, Syrups, etc., etc., quiet and unchanged.

SUGARS.—Patent Cut Loaf, 13; Granulated 11¾c; Crushed, 11¾; Powdered, 11¾; Standard A, 11; B, 10¾; Ex. C, 10¾; Franklin Extra C, 10; American Extra C, 9¾; Yellow Sugars, 7¾ to 9 cents.

COFFEE.—Choice Rio, 26; prime, 25; good, 24. Roasted, 28c for 1 pound packages; loose, 27½c; Old Government Java, 30c; Roasted, 40c.

MOLASSES—Strictly prime New Orleans, 90c; prime, 85c; good, 80c; common, 75c; Porto Rico, 70@75c.

SYRUPS—Fancy White Drips, $1.00@1.20; White Drips, 75; Extra Sugar Drips, 65 to 70c; Amber, 60@65; Molasses Syrups, 35 to 50, as to quality.

RICE—Best Carolina, 9½; good, 8½c; Rangoon, 7¾@8c; Patna, 8½c.

GRAIN—The Wheat market continues dull even at the decline noted in our last report: red and amber, $1.15@1.20, white, 5@8c ⅌ bushel additional. We are reliably informed by dealers that it is difficult to effect sales in this market even at the decline. The Oat market continues fairly active but prices are weak and drooping under the influence of increased receipts and offerings; ranging from 55@58c, according to quality. Ear Corn continues to come in sparingly, and with a steady demand prices are well maintained: 83@85. Shelled Corn in fair supply, the arrivals recently having been more liberal, but there is no stock of any consequence and prices are fully sustained: 80@83. Rye is quiet and nominal at 95@$1.

HAY—The market continues very dull, especially for baled, the supply of which is in excess of present requirements, and prices are weak with a drooping tendency. Loose sold from country wagons, in Allegheny at $20@28, as to quality.

POTATOES—There is a steady demand, but with increased receipts the market is weaker: quotable at $3.50@3.75 per brl.

PROVISIONS—Our Chicago dispatch of yesterday reported a further decline in both Lard and Mess Pork, and the former was also reported dull in New York; bulk meats, however, are still holding their own. Following are the ruling rates: Hams—Extra Sugar Cured, per pound, 16¾; Shoulders—Extra Sugar Cured 11; Breakfast Bacon—Sugar Cured 14¾; Dried Beef—Ex. Sugar Cured, 17. Bacon—Shoulders, 10¾ ⅌ lb; Short Rib Sides, 13; Clear Sides, 13¾; Mess Pork, ⅌ brl, $25.50; Lard—Ref'nd for summer use in trcs, 16; hlf brls, 16½; bkts, 17; 3 lb. caddies, 17¾; 5 lb. do, 17¾; 3 lb. pails, 18¾; 5 lb do, 18¾.

POULTRY—Live Chickens quotable all the way from 50 to 75 cents per pair, according to size.

RAGS—Woolen, ¾; cotton, 2¾@3.

SEEDS—Timothy Seed is in steady demand at $3.50@3.75 ⅌ bushel.

TALLOW—Unchanged at 7c.

PITTSBURGH LIVE STOCK MARKET.

CENTRAL STOCK YARDS, EAST LIBERTY,
WEDNESDAY August 12, 1874.

ARRIVALS.

Following were the arrivals of live stock from and including Sunday up until noon to-day, and, to afford a comparison, we append those of the preceding week also:

	Cattle.	Sheep.	Hogs
Sunday	101 cars.	26 cars	11 cars
Monday	126 "	18 "	23 "
Tuesday	149 "	10 "	30 "
Wednesday	21 "	5 "	13 "
Total	397 "	59 "	80 "
Last week	377 "	79 "	120 "

CATTLE.

The arrivals thus far have been large, unusually so, but very common in point of quality; it is estimated that fully 75 ⅌ cent. of the supply this week has consisted of common and inferior stock, and this being the case it follows that the supply of good beeves was light. That business has not dragged is evident from the fact that the sales from and including Monday up until noon to-day footed 3,420 head, against 3,075 head the corresponding time last week; of these fully three fourths were taken by country dealers and graziers; up to this writing the purchases for the Eastern markets—New York and Philadelphia—have been very meagre, not so much for want of buyers, as an absence of the right kind of stock. Considering the number we do not suppose there has been as large a proportion of common mixed cattle here before this season, and while this particular grade has still further depreciated in value, prime beeves are higher and tending upward, and as this does not seem to be confined to this market but is general, it is fair to conclude that the supply in first hands is comparatively light, and the impression prevails among those who are well informed on the subject, that good fat cattle will rule high for some time to come. So far as we could learn, there was nothing sold above 6¾ and but few at that, but we have reason to believe that prime and extra 1,350@1,400 steers would have brought ¼ to ½ additional, 6¾ to 6⅞, and a few might have found buyers at 7c. The bulk of the sales, however, were made within the range of 3¾ to 4¾ for stockers and feeders while common to fair butcher cattle ranged from 4½@5½.

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

The arrivals up until noon to-day were, as compared with the corresponding time last week, light, 80 cars against 120 cars, and, as has been the case for some past, common in point of quality; however, the market except for scalawag stock, was much better, and, with this exception, we believe prices were a shade higher. The supply of prime fat sheep was very meagre, unequal to the demand, and as there was considerable competition, sellers had no difficulty in closing out, and that, too, at very full rates. So far as we could learn, there was nothing sold above 5¾, we are cognizant of several bunches having brought this figure, whereas there were several droves sold at the price in question last week, but it should be borne in mind that those sold this week were not equal to those of last week in quality, so that in reality there was an advance in the better grades. Two of our most prominent buyers, Erisman and Pearce paid 5¾, although the former said that his market, New York, would not justify the price in question, from which it may be inferred that rates here have been unduly inflated, the result of a short supply of the kind most sought after. Scalawag Sheep very dull, and can only be sold at ruinously low prices, say $1@1.50 ⅌ head. Jersey Ewes quoted at $2@3 ⅌ head, as to quality. Erisman paid $2.60 ⅌ head for a bunch of 1,500, which he expected would clear him one thousand dollars. Extra 100 lb fine wool, 5¾, 90@95 lbs 5¼@5⅜, 80@85 lbs 4¾@5, 70@75 lbs 3¾@4. Lambs selling at 5@6c, mostly at 5¼@5½c.

HOGS.

The arrivals of good corn fed hogs continue light, and as the supply has been and is still unequal to the demand, prices have still further advanced, and the indications at this writing are that the highest notch has not yet been reached. Good Philadelphia hogs sold this forenoon at 8.35@8.40, and John Reyenthaler said there were four cars, due in the afternoon, that would bring 8½. Baltimore hogs quotable at 7@7¾, with but little doing in them. Grass hogs, about the only kind now being bought for New York, quotable at 6@6¾. Prices, if we mistake not, are higher now than they have been since the close of the war.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
WEDNESDAY, August 12, 1874.

The Crude market was a shade weaker to day but prices were without quotable change; "Union" quoted at 97½ bid and $1 asked, free on cars—other lines considerably less. It begins to look as if producers would be obliged to modify their views somewhat, as the product has dropped ¾ to ⅞c ⅌ gallon, while, as regards the raw article, the decline has been very meagre. Refined continues dull and prices have still further declined: 10,000 brls reported as having been sold in New York to day, at 11⅜ for August, which brings the price down to about where it was prior to the advance of last week. This 10,000 brl sale is said to have been made by a New York broker, and we have no doubt it is true, as the brokers can sometimes undersell the manufacturer, as was the case in this instance; there are very few, if any, refiners here that would agree to duplicate the sale for the reason that they would not get their money out of it, as the price 11⅜ we are assured, does not cover actual cost. There is no doubt, however, but what the party who made the sale in question expects the market to go still lower, and that he will be able to cover his contract at a less price than he has agreed to pay.

Barrels continue very dull and prices are weak, although not quotably lower: countries, $1.35@$1.40; city make at $1.50.

Philadelphia Cattle Market.

BEEF CATTLE—There was less vitality in this department of the live stock market to day than prevailed at the close of our last report, but there was a fair trade effected nevertheless, many buyers who failed to secure a full complement last week having put in an appearance and purchased with comparative freedom. The supply was pretty liberal, there being fully 3,500 head on sale against 1,700 head on Monday last and prices receded fully ¼c on good grades and ½c ⅌ lb on the low and medium grades, the market closing rather tame, within the range of 6@7⅛c for fair to prime, 4½@5¾ for common.

SHEEP—There was no new feature developed in this trade to day. Buyers were out in goodly numbers and purchased to a fair extent, confining their transactions principally to the better grades, although there was a steady movement in stockers; sales of fair and choice at 4½@5¾c ⅌ lb, and stockers at $2.50@4 ⅌ head—the latter for a few choice. Lambs sold as wanted at 6@8c for fair and choice, and $1.50@2.50 for common. Receipts, 16,000 head.

HOGS were in scanty supply and with a lively inquiry prices again advanced, closing firm at $10.50@10.75 for corn fed. Receipts, 4,500 head.

Cincinnati Iron Market.

CINCINNATI, August 11—Wm. Means, in his circular, reports as follows: The market for pig iron is quieter, under the influence of a lighter demand. The fall trade will develop greater activity at fall quotations, but the quantity in the hands of producers will probably prevent an early advance in prices. Some lots are held out of the market at figures above present quotations, but producers generally are disposed to follow the market so long as they have iron on hand, prefering to keep their places with old customers, no matter what the figures, than to withdraw their iron and run the risk of being supplanted by those who are willing to sell. The general improvement in business is creating a better feeling in iron circles, and each succeeding day will find the trade in a healthier condition.

The Louisiana Sugar Crop.

The sugar crop in Louisiana for the year 1874 has been the subject of considerable apprehension, the prediction having been made that the sugar growing interest of the State would be found to be well nigh ruined by the overflow in the early part of the year. Mr. W. L. Larimore, of Baton Rouge, an extensive sugar planter, has been over a large portion of the territory along the river, and has received information from interior points, his observation and information leading him to take a very bright view of the prospects of the sugar crop. The crop now growing is the best since the ending of the war. The acreage has been largely increased and the stand is heavy. Mr. Larimore believes that more sugar will be raised this year in the United States than was raised in 1873.

GEORGE H. ROHE,
Observer, Signal Service, U. S. A.

The river continues to recede at this point, with 4 feet 9 inches in the channel. Heavy rain in the afternoon, and the indications this P. M. are favorable for more.

The towboats Lion, Tigress No 2 and Albion arrived, and there are some others about due.

The Mollie Ebert and Esperanza were both announced to leave Cincinnati for this port on Tuesday.

The Exchange departed for Cincinnati last evening.

The Michigan, en route from Steubenville to Cincinnati, is reported as having struck a barge at Buffington.

—The St Louis "Globe" has the following in regard to the Henry Ames disaster: Mr. Sid Prophater, steward, Fred Duerkel, barkeeper, Oliver Cotrell, first engineer, Oliver Gray, striker, officers, and two chambermaids of the lost steamer Henry Ames arrived yesterday morning, per rail. From Mr Prophater we learn that the Ames in landing at Waterproof struck some hidden obstruction, but so lightly that it was not noticed for some minutes, when it was discovered that she was sinking. It was determined to run her on a bar a short distance below the landing, but she went down before getting well on it. She sunk in about 25 feet of water, one mile below the landing, but was settling rapidly when they left her, the water being about four feet deep in the main cabin to about amidships, her head being in the deepest water. There were but few cabin passengers, and none were lost. Mr. P. thinks there were about ten persons lost, as the yawl was filled with people and swamped before it was cast off. The French woman reported lost he says is not true, as she was rescued, and taken to the Louisiana shore. The two chambermaids who were sleeping in the nursery, lost all their clothing, and one of them her watch and $200 in money. He states that the officers of the boat and the roustabouts acted with great presence of mind, and there was no sign of a panic. There was but one lady cabin passenger, a Mrs. Reynolds, of New Orleans, and he says she was the coolest person on board. Had the boat sunk where she struck, the loss of life would have been fearful, as the water is full fifteen fathoms deep there.

—Dudley Holland, Frank Roush and Samuel Smith are the names of the three men who lost their lives by the explosion of the boilers of the towboat Sam Roberts. Captain J. N. Williamson on Monday received a dispatch from the wife of Pilot David Williamson, of the Sam Roberts, which said: "Not as well, but have hopes of his recovery." His hip was mashed in the accident. Jacob Hunker, engineer, was the only other member of the crew who was seriously hurt.

—The New Orleans "Times" says of the wharfage tax: In days past, when affairs were prosperous, when freight was plentiful and rates were high, when greenbacks circulated freely, this tax was scarcely felt and seldom questioned, but now that every man is reduced to the alternative of figuring things down to the finest possible point, in order to make both ends meet, it looms up as an insufferable extortion.

—We clip the following items from the Wheeling "Intelligencer" of Tuesday: The Charlie Hornbrook went to Pittsburgh with two empty flats, and the Hope with two flats of lumber and two keelboats.—The Coal City is lying up at the bend, waiting for water.—The Coal Hill is lying at Boggs' Island. She will leave for St Louis to day. The Iron Valley took her tow of iron to Mingo.—The Lake Erie, now lying at Captina will get her new steam pipes to day.

—Steamboats are passing away. The past week has recorded the disappearance of the following: Henry Ames, Pat. Rodgers, Samuel Roberts, together with a severe injury to the General Buell, by striking a snag. This is considerably faster than they can be built.

—Henry Daniels and Dick Johnson, two well known Arkansas River pilots, the former accompanied by his bride, are passengers upon the Vint Shinkle from Memphis to Louisville.

Additional About Bazaine's Escape.

GREAT BRITAIN.
The Wheat Crop.

LONDON, August 12.—The Mark Lane Express, in its review of the breadstuffs market, has the following in regard to the wheat crop: "We are now at the middle of the harvest, and new wheat shows nothing to indicate more than an average quality and growth, though some of it shows more than average ripeness. Some of our cotemporaries say the crop will be two-thirds above an average; others one-third, and others about an average, while some think it will be below an average. An immense amount of wheat is yet unharvested, and an increase of rain would be serious. There is a great diversity of opinion about the crops in France and Belgium."

In closing its review, the Express says: "We do not see how the price of wheat can be much depressed."

FRANCE.
Bazaine's Escape.

PARIS, August 12.—It has been ascertained that the plan for Marshal Bazaine's escape from the island of Ste. Marguerite was arranged six weeks ago. It was the work of Madame Bazaine. The Marshal refused at first to fly, but finally, owing to his failure to obtain some modification of his sentence, yielded. He sailed from the island in the steam yacht Baron Ricasoli, belonging to an Italian company. The prisoner refused to employ a French vessel. He was accompanied in his flight by his wife and brother. His place of refuge is not known. Some persons say he is in Spain. The domestics at the fort where the Marshal was imprisoned have been arrested.

The Journal des Desbates argues that the crime of which Bazaine was convicted renders him liable to extradition, and France should demand his surrender.

SPAIN.
Recognition of the Republic.

MADRID, August 12.—The Imparcial reports that England, France and Germany have formally recognized the Spanish Republic.

PARIS, August 12.—The Spanish representative at Paris has applied to Madrid for the full credentials of a Minister, as France has declared her readiness to recognize Spain.

LONDON, August 13.—A change of Ministry is imminent at Madrid.

Decision in the Collyer-Edwards Fight.

BALTIMORE, August 12.—Charles Carroll, referee in the Collyer-Edwards prize fight, arrived here this morning. It is stated that his decision is that Edwards fairly won the fight, and he (Carroll) will so decide officially when Edwards and Collyer arrive here on Friday next.

The Races.

ROCHESTER, August 12.—Twenty thousand people witnessed the races to-day. The first race, for horses of the 2:45 class, was left unfinished. Condit's Smith won the first heat in 2:38¾ and Unknown the next two heats in 2:35 and 2:34. A protest was entered against Unknown because of his previous record and the suppression of a former name. The owner said he was prepared with affidavits, and the judge will decide the matter to-night.

The "free for all" race was next called. It was announced that Goldsmith Maid would be driven to win an additional $1,000 offered by beating her record of 2:15¼ made at Buffalo. She was sent in the second heat and trotted a mile in 2:14¾. This extraordinary performance was received with the wildest enthusiasm.

SUMMARY.

Purse No. 5, $5,000, free to all, first horse $2,500, second, $1,500 and third $1,000.

One heat of the 2:29 race was won by Cosette, when a drenching shower caused a postponement of the races for the day.

UTICA, August 12.—The races to-day were well attended. Three heats were trotted in the 2:45 race, and one other was declared void under Rule 28 of the National Association. After the first heat Abner Rush, the owner of Magnolia, the favorite, was taken from his sulky, and another driver substituted for an alleged attempt to throw the race at the end of the third heat. The race was postponed until Thursday on account of the darkness. The positions of the horses were as follows: Magnolia, 1, 2, 1; Wellsby Boy, 2, 2, 2; Major Root, 4, 1, 4; Rosa Sonbury, 3, 4, 3; Volunteer Maid, 7, 5, 5. Time 2:28, 2:27 and 2:30.

AMONG OUR MILLS.

Items of Interest to Iron Workers.
[From the American Manufacturer.]

THE Soho furnace is blowing away as if iron were $50 a ton.

HUSSEY, WELLS & Co. have put fire in their second pair of Siemens furnaces.

CLINTON FURNACE, Graff, Bennett & Co., on the South Side, is still in operation.

THE pocket cutlery works of Canton now employ about forty hands and is in a very prosperous condition.

ISABELLA FURNACE No. 1 (18 feet boshes) is blowing, doing splendidly. No. 2 (20 feet boshes) has just been relined.

OF the eleven blast furnaces in the city five are out of blast—not because of the depression in the iron business, but for repairs.

LUCY FURNACE is running on mill iron at present, having just gone off from Bessemer iron. It ran six weeks on Bessemer, making in that time 2650 tons.

ONE of Laughlin's & Co.'s furnaces is blowing. The other, as we have previously stated, is being rebuilt, and will be 17¼ feet at boshes, which is larger than it was before, but the same size as the one blowing.

ONE of the Shoenberger furnaces is out of blast, and is being relined. The last blast of this furnace was a very short one, as the lining was put in only eleven months ago. The other furnace is blowing.

THE old Eagle furnace, just torn down by Cartwright, McCurdy & Co., of Youngstown, was, with one exception, the oldest blast furnace in the Mahoning Valley. It was a stone stack; the new furnace to be erected will be an iron stack.

PREVIOUS to the panic the Enterprise Furnace Company contracted with the Blast Furnace Erection Company, to build them a nineteen feet furnace at Hite's Station, on the West Penn railroad, eighteen miles up the Allegheny river, but the enterprise has been abandoned for the present, caused no doubt by the panic.

A LARGE quantity of gas now issues from the artesian well bored at the Allegheny poor house, and it is thought it can be used for lighting the building. This is but one of the numerous indications that there is a large store-house of gas beneath the city, sufficient, no doubt, to run all our iron works. The importance of such a discovery it would be difficult to estimate.

THE Blair Iron and Steel Company, at Glenwood, are running an open hearth steel melting furnace, with Frank's gas furnace, which on the 5th inst. turned out its eighteenth cast, each cast being about four tons. The steel is melted in a bath of cast iron, say about four hundred pounds of cast iron to the ton of steel produced. The company confines its operations to the manufacture of steel ingots, which are disposed of to the merchant mills. The company are about to build an additional melting furnace, which, when completed, will give the works a capacity of two hundred tons of ingots per week. The sponge is made, by a patent process, mostly from Iron Mountain ore, in the proportion of four hundred pounds of ore to one hundred pounds of charcoal. This department has been in operation nearly two years. Muck bar and merchant iron have been made from this sponge equal to that made from pig iron.

Thanks.

We return our grateful acknowledgement to Lewis Peterson, Jr., Esq., of Allegheny, for three bound volumes of the GAZETTE of 1838-9. They supply a deficiency in our files, and are valued accordingly.

The Relief Fund.

Yesterday the Grocers' Association of this city and Allegheny subscribed to the Relief Fund through Mr. Louis Hoerr, the sum of $743.74. T. R. Robinson, of the Thirty-seventh ward, handed in $5. Menges Cohen, Esq., of the Pittsburgh, Washington & Baltimore Railroad, subscribed $25. These amounts were all handed in to the Cashier of the Anchor Savings Bank.

The Prize Fight.

It is now said upon what may be considered good authority that Charles Carroll, of Baltimore, who was the referee in the late fight between Sam Collyer and Billy Edwards, has notified the friends of both parties that he will decide the battle in favor of Edwards. This decision will give satisfaction, it is said, to all parties. Before Carroll finally decides, as stated in yesterday's GAZETTE, either the principals or their representatives will have to appear before him at Baltimore.

Twelfth Ward City Hospital.

During the six months ending July 1st, two hundred and thirty-four patients have been received into this hospital. One hundred and seventy-four were charity and sickly pay patients. More than one-third of the entire number were surgical cases.

During the same period eleven births and twenty-eight deaths occurred at the hospital.

On July 1st there were remaining in the institution ninety-two patients, seventy-six of which number were charity patients.

At Library Hall.

On Thursday evening, August 20, at half-past seven P. M., Rev. Edwin C. Colman, of Cleveland, Ohio, will lecture in Library Hall, for the benefit of the sufferers by the late flood. His subject will be, "The Union of Civil and Ecclesiastical Power by Constantine." The acknowledged ability and reputation of the lecturer, and the object for which the lecture is to be given, should be sufficient to crowd the hall. Let all attend and receive edification, and at the same time aid a most worthy cause. Price of admission, 50c.

Overcome by the Heat.

About noon yesterday a man named McCarty was engaged shoveling coal on the platform at the outer depot in Allegheny, when he was suddenly overcome by the intense heat, and fell to the ground. He was removed to a house near by, and Dr. Buchanan summoned, who succeeded in bringing him back to consciousness. He was then removed to his home at Wood's Run. It is thought he will recover. Shortly afterward another man was somewhat overcome by the heat, but at once ran into a house, and by proper applications of cold water, soon recovered.

Slight Accident.

Mr. Evan Jones, a contractor, residing in the Fourteenth ward, met with a slight accident on Monday, which will disable him for duty for a short time. In the forenoon of the day above named, a number of his men were in the act of moving a huge stone at a point on Locust street near Boyd, and not being expert in their operations he attempted to give some assistance when the stone slipped and fell upon his arm bruising it quite severely and spraining his wrist. Dr. Rex was called and rendered the necessary attention and on last evening he was reported doing well.

Discharged and Re-arrested.

On Tuesday night Officer Mike Harrison arrested a man named "Darby" McDonough for being concerned in the "Bull" White shooting affray of Monday. Yesterday afternoon he gave bail in $5,000 to appear for a hearing on Monday and was consequently discharged by the acting Mayor. Last night about 10 o'clock "Darby" having imbibed sundry drinks became drunk and disorderly on Wylie avenue. Officer Mike Harrison again took him into custody. All the way to the lock up he fought the officer and when in the Central Station House turned upon Turnkey Wilson and tore his clothes from his back. It is more than probable that the acting Mayor will to day put him under $5,000 more bail to keep the peace.

"Store Fingered Squirts."

Some persons from Pittsburgh have been acting in a very silly manner in Beaver, as witness the following from the Beaver Times: "Some Pittsburghers that visited this place a few days ago, thought every person in the town was green, and that they "knew it all." They would stop little boys along the streets and ask them some silly question, while another one stopped in front of the grocery store of Mr. G. A. Welker, and wanted to know if it was a bank, &c. We would give those "store fingered squirts" to understand, if we are a little green, we possess enough brains to know how to act when we visit a strange place. Should any of them see this notice, we hope they will benefit by it." "Store fingered squirts" whereby to point a moral and adorn a tale, and is too good to be lost.

The American Manufacturer of this week has a great variety of fresh editorials on the live questions of the day, in which our manufacturers should be interested, and we are glad to learn that it has been so firmly established as the leading iron journal of the country. The industrial interests of our city owe much to the energy and ability that has been displayed in the management of this enterprise; for only years of patient toil and watchfulness could bring about such results.

As it is freely quoted by our English neighbors, they, too, must appreciate its merits.

We do not see how the trade of the country could afford to be without its very full and reliable market reports and price currents, which reprint the leading iron, metal, and hardware markets of the country.

Sentenced to the Penitentiary.

Elisha Dixon, who was convicted at the April term of the District Court at Johnstown, of the terrible crime of rape upon the person of a little nine year old girl, named Maggie Heckman, was called up for sentence on Tuesday afternoon. Col. J. P. Linton, of counsel for the prisoner, made an eloquent appeal for him, and when he concluded, his Honor Judge Potts proceeded to pronounce the sentence of the Court. He took occasion to remark that all that had been said by the counsel had been fully considered, and that under the circumstances he would impose as light a penalty as he deemed consistent with the gravity of the offense. "The sentence of the Court," he said, "is, that you Elisha Dixon shall pay a fine of $100 to the use of the Commonwealth, the cost of prosecution, and that you undergo an imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a period of four years. The High Sheriff of the County is directed to remove you thereto within a period of twenty days."

THE GLENDALE AFFAIR.

Informations Made Against Lynch and the Two Negroes.

Yesterday Alderman D. L. Smith of Allegheny issued warrants for the arrest of George Lynch, Wesley Brooks and Matthews, the three parties who attacked and attempted to kill Mrs. Ketterer, at Glendale, on Monday, on an information made before him on Tuesday, charging them with aggravated assault and battery. The officers succeeded in capturing Lynch and Brooks, and they were each held in $500 bail to await a hearing on next Wednesday. Yesterday Mrs. Ketterer became very sick and was compelled to go to bed and send for a physician. It is believed that one or more of her ribs were broken by the blows struck by the negro Matthews. Dr. Venn is attending her.

SEVERELY INJURED.

A Man Thrown From a Beer Wagon and Run Over.

Mr. Henry Rupp, living on Hope street, back of the new market house, was severely injured on Monday by the running away of a team which he was driving. It appears that about one o'clock in the afternoon of the above named day he was driving a wagon belonging to Pier Dannals, proprietor of the Oregon Brewery, on Fifth avenue extension, and as he approached the railroad, near the Keystone Works on Second avenue, the team took fright at an approaching train, and in his efforts to check their speed, the bit of one of the bridles broke, which gave the team the advantage, and they dashed down Second avenue at a furious rate, upsetting the wagon, throwing Mr. Rupp to the ground, after which the vehicle and a number of beer kegs passed over his body, inflicting serious internal injuries, besides crushing his chest and fracturing a rib. Dr. Rex attended him, and gave his injuries the necessary attention, and on last evening he was reported improving slowly.

THE RIOT AT GLENDALE.

A Citizens' Meeting Held and Resolutions Adopted.

The recent riot at Glendale in the course of which a colored man was badly beaten has raised the indignation of the residents of that quiet hamlet, and on Tuesday morning a meeting was held to express the general disgust at the riotous proceedings. The Rev. Mr. Swift occupied the chair and stated the object of the meeting.

The following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted as the sentiment of the meeting:

WHEREAS, The peace and quiet of Glendale has often within the past year been much disturbed, and the evil of drunkenness has become so prevalent in our midst by persons who come among us, drawn by the low drinking houses which are licensed in our township, that our citizens have become alarmed. It is hereby Resolved, First, that we attribute these evils to the dram shops that have sprung up among us.

Second—That it is much against our will and desire that we tolerate the existence of dram shops, which make no pretensions to be for the accommodation of travelers, but are only common bars, to take from some of our best workingmen the money which their wives and children should have.

Third—That we will go forward in the way of reform until we are free from the existence of unnecessary dram-shops.

Fourth—That this meeting appoint a committee to inquire into the legality of the licenses held in the township.

Fifth—That the thanks of our community are due to Messrs Goff and Graham for their prompt action in prosecuting the parties concerned in the late disturbance, and that we will assist in every way to have the laws enforced.

BIG OIL FIRE.

Work of the Lightning.

The Standard Oil Refinery Partially Destroyed—Large Number of Tanks and Valuable Buildings Burned—The Loss Estimated at $75,000—Explosion of a Tank at the Fairview Works—Heavy Damage.

Yesterday afternoon during the fierce rain storm that visited this city, one of the large oil tanks at the Standard Oil Works, about a quarter of a mile this side of the Sharpsburg Bridge, on the bank of the Allegheny river, was struck by lightning and the fire communicated to the buildings and other tanks adjoining, causing quite an extensive and destructive conflagration. The lightning blew the lid off one of the man holes and set fire to the gas around it. As soon as the men at the works observed the fire they mounted the tank, and with blankets endeavored to smother it. Not having a sufficient quantity of blanketing more was sent for, but before it arrived the flames caught the gas around the upper edge and made it so hot for the men on top that they had to abandon it. With the object of preventing an explosion, the work of drawing off the oil was commenced and the tank had been partially emptied when, owing to some inexplicable cause, the oil boiled over and spreading in nearly all directions with which it came in contact. Oil in tanks, we were informed, does not generally boil over when in flames unless water is thrown upon it or until it reaches the water in the bottom. This tank, by the way, was located at the northwest corner of the row of buildings on the lower side of the Allegheny Valley Railroad. It was quite a large one containing about five thousand barrels of distilled oil. When it boiled over it set fire to a brick building standing immediately in front of it and which contained two tanks of refined oil. When these caught the flames the spread of the fire was very rapid and everything that stood in its pathway was wiped out in a very short time, but the oil kept fiercely burning for hours, and when our reporter left the scene it appeared to be as bad as ever though all danger was generally considered as past.

SET FIRE TO EVERYTHING

To the right and on the upper side of the building, in which were the tanks of refined oil, was situated the warehouse and cooper shop. This as a matter of course, from its close proximity, could not escape the general destruction and it was swept away with the rest and all its contents.

THE WORKMEN'S LOSS.

The men in the cooper shop lost all their tools and every portion of their clothing except what they had on. When they heard the alarm of fire they ran out to assist in subduing it, never thinking of caring for their coats, vests and hats, and our reporter was told that in the destruction of wearing apparel a number of the workmen were unfortunate enough to sustain financial loss, though in no case, it may be safely said, was it very great.

In the rear of the warehouse stood the settling house, which was also burned and several tanks of oil that were inside of it. Altogether some eight or ten tanks and their contents were destroyed, but just how many barrels of oil they represented it was impossible to learn, although they run high up in the thousands.

HOW IT RAGED.

The fierceness of the fire, to burn for so long a time, can hardly be described. The tank must have been struck about three o'clock, or a little before, as the first alarm, which was turned in from box 76, at the corner of Forty-eighth and Butler streets, was announced by the big bell at twenty minutes past three, and ever since that hour up to ten o'clock last night, when our reporter left, the fire had been burning with almost unparalleled force and vigor. When the tank boiled over the oil ran through a corn field toward a number of frame houses that stood below the works, and for a short time they were in imminent danger, the inmates removing all their household goods and carrying them to a more elevated spot so as to escape destruction. The houses, however, were not touched, but the green corn stalks through which the fiery stream of oil passed were licked up like dry prairie grass. Fully an acre, if not more, of the cornfield was cleared more completely and far better than if a man had gone over it with a cutter. The current of burning oil finding its way down what appeared to be a small water course, reached the Allegheny river, and spreading over half way across the stream, presented a magnificent sight and one seldom seen. The water itself appeared to have suddenly become of an inflammable nature, and the flames shot up a hundred feet in the air. A gentleman living on the opposite side of the river said that he had never before witnessed a sight so grand, but while looking at it he feared it might creep all the way from shore to shore and set fire to his property.

OIL BARRELS BURNED.

The warehouse contained some fourteen thousand oil barrels, and it is said that a few of them were filled, but at any rate nearly all were burned. The men worked hard and succeeded in saving a considerable number, which were rolled to the upper side of the railroad track, out of harm's way, but ten or eleven thousand were destroyed.

The engines threw immense streams of water, and the firemen labored manfully, but their best efforts had no perceptible effect in subduing the fire. The oil would burn and nothing would extinguish it, so all that could be done was to turn the hose on the buildings and oil tanks near by and prevent them from catching. To the right and at the upper end of the warehouse two large oil tanks and a brick building were located and near them was also a large quantity of barrels. As the flames could no longer travel in a westerly direction, the firemen turned their entire attention to these tanks and barrels, and nearly all the water pumped was thrown on them. The fire burned very fiercely at this point, and it was all important that the tanks should be kept cool and no gas generated, as an explosion would have caused terrible damage and made the fire uncontrollable. Three lines of hose were kept in constant use here, and no apparent headway was made by either the flames or the firemen, neither advancing or receding, but it was thought the fire would be prevented from spreading any further. The conflagration was confined altogether to the lower side of the railroad track, the rails of which were considerably warped by the heat, and the cross ties being set on fire by the running oil. Had it succeeded in getting above the track and enveloping the office and other large brick edifices, as well as the numerous tanks that stood around in every direction, we would have been compelled to add a great many thousands to the already large loss.

THE SECOND ALARM.

About seven o'clock last evening a second alarm was turned in, and created an impression that the fire was a great deal larger than it had generally been supposed to be. As a result of this false impression a great many people went out to witness the burning. The alarm, however, was not sounded because further danger was apprehended, but for the purpose of bringing out the balance of the steamers, and to relieve the men who had been working faithfully the whole afternoon, and who were entirely exhausted and worn out.

Thousands of men, women and children witnessed the fire. In the immediate neighborhood it was light as day and those who went to enjoy the spectacle occupied prominent locations on the hill-side and beyond the reach of any possible danger from explosions. The fences in every direction were black with humanity, and immense crowds got as near as they were permitted. One man suddenly started to run and commenced yelling at the top of his voice. The remainder, doubtless fearing an explosion, became panic stricken, and following the example set them, rushed pell-mell in an opposite direction until it became evident they had nothing to fear, when they stopped, and the one who had inaugurated the stampede indulged in a hearty laugh at their expense.

LOSS AND INSURANCE.

One of the officers of the Standard Oil Co. informed our reporter that it was utterly impossible to even approximate their loss, as it could not be safely estimated until to-day, after an examination has been made. Seventy-five thousand dollars, however, will not more than cover the damage. As for insurance it could not, owing to the lateness of the hour, be ascertained how much it is or whether any at all.

Fire Up the West Penn Road.

One of the large oil tanks of the Fairview Oil Works, on the line of the West Penn Railroad, and about a quarter of a mile above Claremont was also struck by lightning yesterday afternoon, and consumed. It is said that about twenty-thousand barrels of crude oil were destroyed. The tank exploded, and the burning oil running to the river bank set fire to the track of the West Penn road, and damaged it so badly that trains could not pass. Passengers from points up the road were transferred to a train below the fire and brought to the city, the same course being pursued with those going up. Mr. Arnold Hertz is the owner of the Fairview Works, but how much his loss amounts to could not be learned.

A Little Fire.

At half past ten o'clock last night an alarm of fire was struck from box twelve, corner of Liberty and Sixth streets. It proved to be in an oyster saloon of Mr. Monell, located on Diamond alley in the rear of the Market house. The department responded promptly but before the arrival of the engines the flames were extinguished by a few buckets of water. The damage done was very slight.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

A Man Out of Work Becomes Despondent and Attempts Self-Destruction.

A man named Sampson Clarke, who resides on the hill, yesterday attempted to commit suicide by laudanum. Before he took the dose which he intended to end his life he wrote a letter in which he stated that as he was out of work and consequently was unable to support his mother, he thought the best thing he could do would be to destroy himself. Before the fatal poisonous draft had taken its full effect he was found by a girl in the house, evidently very sick and a physician was summoned. A messenger was also dispatched to his brother, George Clarke, to inform him of the circumstance. Under medical care he recovered sufficiently to be taken to his brother's house, but about 8 o'clock in the evening he again left it and wandered away. As he had expressed his determination to destroy his life, his friends and relatives are afraid that he has accomplished his purpose by drowning or some other means.

A CASE OF DESERTION.

The Deserted Wife and Her Brother Pursue the Husband.

Yesterday afternoon a woman and her brother came to this city from New York, and, upon their arrival, repaired to the office of Alderman Joseph Butler, on Wylie avenue, where they related the following story: On the 30th day of June, 1873, the woman in question was married to one Louis Wolinskey, and after the marriage the couple only lived together about one week, when the husband "lit out," and had not been heard of until recently. A few weeks ago his wife heard of his whereabouts, and accordingly determined to follow him, and to this end she and her brother came to Pittsburgh, arriving as above stated, yesterday. On presenting the case to Squire Butler, he determined to capture the deserter, and sent an officer to a farm house a short distance into the country, where he was working, to make the arrest. After securing his prisoner the officer returned, and when brought before his Honor, he confessed the desertion, and agreed to accompany his wife to New York. They left on the two o'clock train this morning for the above named place, where they have promised to live together.

YESTERDAY'S STORM.

Its Effect in This City—A Church Struck by Lightning—Allegheny Again Suffers from Heaven's Flood Gates—The Residents of Butchers' Run Terror Stricken.

The storm yesterday afternoon, though not attended with the disastrous results which followed the flood of July 26 h, was still sufficiently heavy to inflict serious damage in this city and Allegheny. The lightning caused more serious losses than on that memorable occasion. The conflagration at the Standard oil works, elsewhere reported, involved a greater loss than has been incurred by lightning for many years in this city. The damage by water and wind was also quite considerable. The particulars of the most serious consequences of the storm will be found chronicled below.

IN THIS CITY.

The storm of yesterday afternoon was not without it effects. Two new brick houses, located on Webster street, near Elm, in the Eleventh ward, were completely demolished. The above buildings were nearly completed, being already for the plastering. The loss incurred could not be estimated, as the work of erection will have to be performed the second time.

While the storm was at its hight yesterday afternoon the lightning struck St. Andrew's Episcopal church, on Ninth street, between Penn street and the Allegheny river. A large number of the slates were torn from the roof and hurled to the street below. The damage to the roof will probably be covered by $100, but owing to the leakage thus caused, damage was done to the church which will probably amount to a similar sum.

The wind struck Hartupee's foundry at the corner of Second avenue and Short street. So heavy was the current that one side was entirely blown down and demolished. It is said that the damage will amount to at least $2,000.

Several of the telegraph poles on the hill were blown down, and the limbs of trees wrenched from their trunks to various parts of the city.

IN ALLEGHENY.

In Allegheny City the storm raged very severely. At first the violent wind storm came up, blowing down chimneys, awnings, shutters and other articles so that quickly the streets were deserted by the many persons who were out, in order to save themselves from injury. The rain then began to fall in torrents, which soon made little rivers in the gutters in the streets, and filled up all the sewers and in the upper portions of the city brought down quantities of dirt and stones. There were no accidents of a serious nature in Allegheny. Besides the blowing down of shutters, signs, awnings, chimneys, &c., the following damage was done: On Troy Hill any number of fences and grape arbors were destroyed, and on Lowrie street a large section of the newly laid board walk was torn up and thrown into the middle of the street.

At the corner of Simson street and Middle alley, in the district of the 4th of July fire, many of the roofs were taken off, windows blown out, and considerable other damage done to the houses. One house which is unoccupied and owned by a Mrs. Grey, who was just about completing repairs where the house had been damaged by the recent fire, was seriously damaged. A house few doors nearer Federal street, which was damaged by the fire, was also somewhat injured.

At Zinkand & Andregg's furniture warehouse on Ohio street, near Madison avenue, the roof was raised about a foot and then fell back to its place again. The large sign on the roof was blown off.

One of the windows in Semple's store was smashed.

Several coal barges in the Ohio river in front of Lindsay & McCutcheon's mill, were broken loose and blown out upon the bar in the river, where they lodged.

Four of the fire-alarm telegraph poles on Western avenue, near Bidwell street and box 13 were blown down, breaking the wire. Notice was at once sent to the fire alarm office, and the box was soon placed in position again, and the break in the line repaired.

A large number of trees were blown down in various parts of the city.

THE SCENE OF THE LATE FLOOD.

The people in the unfortunate Butcher's run and Spring Garden avenue district became greatly alarmed. The storm there did no damage besides badly frightening the residents. That district was pretty well protected from the wind, and besides the blowing down of a few shingles and shutters no damage was done. The water did no damage whatever, except carrying considerable dirt into the streets, which will necessitate considerable labor to remove it.

OUTSIDE THE CITIES.

country roads were considerably washed, and trees uprooted. In a great many places the grown corn was still laid low. Fences were torn up and blown away. No serious damage is reported from the districts lying outside the twin cities.

ANOTHER SCANDAL.

An Information Against a Minister of the Gospel.

The following information was made against Rev. G. W. Jackson, pastor of the Zion Baptist Church, Allegheny, before Alderman Joseph Butler yesterday, which explains itself.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, City of Pittsburgh, ss.

Before me, the subscriber, Joseph A. Butler, one of the Aldermen in and for said city, and ex officio a justice of the peace in and for the county of Allegheny, personally came Rachel Roy, who upon oath administered according to law, deposes and says, that at Pittsburgh, in the county of Allegheny, on or about the 15th day of August, 1873, defendant, G. W. Jackson, did commit an assault and battery upon the person of said deponent, with intent to commit rape, contrary to the laws in such cases made and provided. Complainant therefore prays and desires that a warrant may issue, and the aforesaid defendant, G. W. Jackson, may be arrested and held to answer this charge of assault and battery with intent to commit rape.

MRS RACHEL ROY.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 12th day of August, A. D. 1874.

JOS. BUTLER, [L. S.]
Alderman.

It appears that there has been considerable talk about the above charge on the part of the members of Mr. Jackson's flock. Mrs. Roy came out in a statement in vindication of herself to the deacons of the church—at the same time implicating their minister, who, she alleged, had been guilty of immoral conduct. An investigation was ordered, and by a vote of the membership of the church over which it is stated the minister presided, he was exonerated from the charges. It is alleged that Mr. Jackson presented a certificate from Mrs. Roy at the investigation exonerating him from the charges made against him, which was not a genuine document. This, together with other things, seems to have stirred the blood of the lady above named, which led to the institution of criminal proceedings against him. The case will come up for hearing at an early day, and such new developments as may be made will be given in the future.

AMUSEMENTS.

OLYMPIC THEATRE.—This comfortable and airy little place of amusement has for the last week, been under the management of Miss Minnie Loder. This little lady inaugurated her season by removing all objectionable features from the establishment, discontinuing the bar room, shutting up the wine-room and making it in every respect a legitimate place of amusement. Having gathered around her a really first-class company, she trusted to the attractions offered to fill her house, and as a consequence the theatre has been well filled at every performance. There is probably no lady vocalist in this country who is so great a favorite in Pittsburgh, as Miss Minnie Loder. Her powers as a singer are far above the average, and she alway selects songs which carry with her the sympathy of her hearers. It is of course no business of ours, but it does seem somewhat strange that a lady with such power, compass and quality of voice does not take position in some opera troupe instead of staying on the variety stage.

Miss Loder takes a benefit at the Olympic on Friday, when we have no doubt her friends will turn out in force. She deserves the support of Pittsburgh public, and we doubt not that she will have it.

SUDDEN DEATH.

A Case of Heart Disease.

Ernest Lemmi, who resided at the rear of 74 Virgin alley, in the Third ward, while sitting upon a bed in his residence last evening, holding a child in his arms, fell to the floor and expired immediately. He had been complaining for some days past, but was not thought to be in a dangerous condition, and but little attention was paid to his complaints.

The coroner was summoned and empanneled a jury who rendered a verdict of death from heart disease. Deceased was an Italian by birth, had been in this country two years, was a peddler by occupation, was forty three years of age, and leaves a wife and five children.

LARCENY ON THE SOUTH SIDE.

Two Boys Implicated.

On last Friday the house of Mr. H. D. Rolfe, on Carson street, South Side, was entered by unknown parties in search of booty. Mr. Rolfe and family were away on a visit at the time, and the attempt at robbery was not discovered until sometime in the afternoon on the next day. The transaction was kept unusually quiet, thinking that things would develop themselves, and the could be caught. On Monday morning a boy in the employ of Dilworth, Porter & Co. came into the works as usual, but during the forenoon, was noticed to have a fine lot of cigars in his possession, which he was passing among the men. The father of Mr. Rolfe, whose house had been entered, noticed the boy's liberality, and upon examining the "manufactured weed" detected them on account of their being a peculiar brand as having been taken from the dwelling of his son. On questioning the lad, it was found that on the Saturday before two boys had gone down to the bank of the river for the purpose of hiding something, and this boy watched them, and after they had concluded their operations, he went to the place where these goods had been secreted, and after removing the rubbish, found a box of cigars. The names of the "chaps" who stole the goods are known, but are withheld until after an information is made against them. The house and trunks were thoroughly ransacked, but nothing is missing farther than above named. Mr. R. and family are expected home to-day, when proceedings will be instituted at once against the young criminals.

THE Presbytery of Wooster will hold an adjourned meeting in Haysville, Ohio, on Tuesday, the 18th of August, at 2 P. M.

SALLY MCDOUGAL, a notorious character, well known in Shelby, was found on Monday last, in the marsh six miles north of New Washington, murdered. A ball had passed through her head, another in her body, and numerous stabs on her person.

THE Elyria Democrat says: A family living near Wellington were nearly driven out of "house and home" a few nights by swarms of potato bugs, which invaded their home. After hours of hard work they succeeded in ridding the house of them.

The Akron Beacon says, 5,395,444 bushels of coal were mined in Summit county the past year, employing a force of 579 miners, 3,479,606 of stoneware; 3,600,000 smoking pipes; 24,000 stone beer bottles and 10,000 barrels of lime were also manufactured during the same period.

A DRUNKEN BRUTE in Defiance, who was driving at a furious rate through the streets, struck his wife, who was with him, a blow that knocked her out of the wagon. Her offense was that she attempted to take the lines and stop the horses. Fortunately she was not injured.

A MAN named E. F. Madison recently ran away with the wife of Joseph Pertz, of Cincinnati. They stopped at Ironton one week and from there went to Huntingdon, where they were overtaken by an officer of justice and a loving husband. Mrs. Pertz was glad to come back to her husband. Madison escaped.

Scene in a Graveyard in Scotland.

A correspondent writing to the Glasgow Mail, says:—The other morning I was taking a walk in one of the graveyards on the south side, when my attention was attracted to two men digging a grave. I walked up to them and was asked if I would like to see a dead body. I therefore looked into the grave and saw a corpse, which apparently had been just uncovered. After I had looked at it for a minute the man in the grave divided the body into pieces to enable him so throw it up to the surface. The body was about eight feet from the surface. The man at the top of the grave gathered the parts together and put them in a barrow beside another mutilated corpse, but for what purpose I know not, as I turned away in disgust and left the ground. A gentleman came up just as I was leaving the grave. How long the body had lain in the grave I cannot say; but this I know, that the man who cut it up had some difficulty in doing so. If this is what goes on in our graveyards cremation is greatly to be preferred.

TRAVELERS' TESTIMONY.

Thousands of Travelers by land and sea have vouched for the efficacy of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a preventive of the physical disturbances which ordinarily arise from change of climate and the changes of diet, water, &c., incident to a wandering life. Up n systems toned, invigorated and regulated by this genial vegetable antidote the external causes of debility and disease seem to produce little or no effect. Forearmed with Hostetter's Bitters, the voyager may bid defiance to sea-sickness and encounter the chilling fogs of the British Isles, the coast winds of the Antilles, the icy temperature of northern Alaska, or the burning heat of the tropics, with equal impunity. The effect of this admirable medicated stimulant is greatly to increase the vital energy of the system, thereby enabling it to resist and repel the exciting causes of disease.

TUESDAY afternoon a young man named E. M. Wiggins, a clerk in the Auditor's office of the Atlantic & Great Western Railroad at Meadville, committed suicide by shooting himself through the temple. His body was discovered some distance out of town, lying in some weeds, a revolver clasped in his hand.

THE Loyalhanna camp meeting, near Latrobe, will commence on the 26th of this month. The ground will soon assume the appearance of a miniature city, as quite a number of houses are being erected thereon. The meeting will last a week or ten days, and it promises to be the largest gathering of the kind ever held in Western Pennsylvania.

THE body of a boy, one of the members of the McClese family, drowned at the village of Sodom in the flood of the 26th of July, was found in Chartiers creek, near McCallum's coal works, and buried on Saturday. It will be remembered that the whole family, father, mother and three children, were drowned. But two of the bodies have been recovered.

THE barn of Alex. McConnell, occupied by Andrew Conn, situated about half way between Florence and Frankfort, Washington county, was struck by lightning at nine o'clock Sunday night, 26th ult., and entirely consumed. There were burned about 100 bushels of wheat, a full crop of oats and ten tons of hay. The horses were saved, though badly scorched.

ERIE has about completed a reservoir on the high lands south of the city, which is estimated to contain 32,000,000 gallons of water when filled. It required two million brick to cover its inside surface, and the wall across its center reaches to within sixteen feet of the top. The water is pumped into it from the bay, about three hundred feet below and two miles from it.

A BOY named Benjamin Jenkins, aged about 14 years, living at Blacksville, West Virginia, near the State line, Greene county, committed suicide by hanging on Tuesday of last week. It is not certainly known whether the poor fellow deliberately committed suicide, or met his death while attempting to go through some performance he had witnessed at the circus. He seemed to have a mania for imitating what he had seen in the circus.

LAST week, Mr. Robert Hamilton, of Ohio township, Beaver county, in digging out a stump, came upon a nest of snake eggs. There were nine in number, each about the size of a man's thumb, and the whole of them joined as solidly together as though they had been cemented. Each egg contained a young snake, fully four inches in length, perfectly formed, and apparently of the black variety.

MR. BOYD, a former resident of Hollidaysburg, Pa., where he was engaged in the drug business for a number of years, was consigned to the State Lunatic Asylum, at Harrisburg, some two years since. Two weeks ago he escaped from the Asylum along with some eight or ten others, by eluding the vigilance of the officer who was in charge of the patients that were allowed the freedom of the ground. It is said that he secreted himself in the shrubbery surrounding the Asylum, and was thus enabled to make his escape. He made a circuitous route, and after two weeks' journeying arrived in Hollidaysburg. He has since been taken back.

Excellence—Cheapness.

A business house that can manage to sell a good article at a low price is worthy the especial attention of purchasers. The Boot and Shoe House of Mr. R. Taggart, of 129 Federal street, Allegheny, is conducted on this principle, viz: To give a good quality article of boots or shoes for a very low figure. Keep in mind, then, that you can buy first-class boots and shoes at Taggart's as cheap as you can purchase a shoddy article at many other houses.

All of the above Envelopes and Wrappers must be embossed with postage stamps of such denominations, styles, and colors, must have such water-marks or other devices to prevent imitation, and must bear such printing as the Postmaster General may direct. The envelopes must be made in the most thorough manner, equal in every respect to the samples furnished to bidders by the Department. The paper must be of approved quality, specially manufactured for the purpose.

DIES.

The dies for embossing the postage stamps on the envelopes and wrappers are to be executed to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, in the best style, and they are to be provided, renewed, and kept in order at the expense of the contractor. The Department reserves the right of requiring new dies for any stamps or denominations of stamps not now used, and any changes of dies or colors shall be made without extra charge.

Before entering into a contract the successful bidder may be required to prepare and submit new dies for the approval of the Department. The use of the present dies may or may not be continued.

The dies, as soon as made, shall become the property of the United States, and shall be safely and securely kept by the contractor, and should the use of any of them be temporarily or permanently discontinued they shall be promptly turned over to the Post Office Department, or its agent, as the Postmaster General may direct.

SECURITY FROM FIRE AND THEFT.

Bidders are notified that the Department will require, as a condition of the contract, that the envelopes and wrappers shall be manufactured and stored in apartments separate and distinct from those in which any other work is done, and in such a manner as to insure security against loss by fire or theft.

The manufactory must at all times be subject to the inspection of an agent of the Department, who will require the stipulations of the contract to be faithfully observed.

The contractor, his employes, and agents shall conform to such regulations as the Department may from time to time adopt for the security of the Government.

PACKING.

All envelopes and wrappers must be banded in parcels of twenty-five, and packed in strong pasteboard or straw boxes, securely bound on all the edges and corners with cotton or linen cloth glued on, each box to contain not less than two hundred and fifty of the note and letter sizes, and one hundred each of the official or extra official size, separately. The newspaper wrappers to be packed in boxes, to contain not less than two hundred and fifty each. The boxes are to be wrapped and securely fastened in strong manilla paper, and sealed so as to safely bear transportation by mail for delivery to postmasters. When two thousand or more envelopes or wrappers are required to fill the order of a postmaster, the straw or pasteboard boxes containing the same must be packed in strong wooden cases, well strapped with hoop-iron, and addressed; but when less than two thousand are required, proper labels of direction, to be furnished by an agent of the Department, must be placed upon each package by the contractor. Wooden cases, containing envelopes or wrappers, to be transported by water routes, must be provided with suitable water-proofing. The whole to be done under the inspection and direction of an agent of the Department.

DELIVE

The envelopes and wrappers must be ready for delivery on the 1st day of October, 1874, and thereafter must be promptly furnished and delivered, complete in all respects, in such quantities as may be required to fill the daily orders of postmasters; the deliveries to be made either at the Post Office Department, Washington, D. C., or at the office of an agent duly authorized to inspect and receive the same; the place of delivery to be at the option of the Postmaster General, and the cost of delivering, as well as all expense of storing, packing, addressing, labeling, and water-proofing to be paid by the contractor.

OFFICE ROOMS AND FURNITURE.

An agent of the Department will have supervision of the manufacture, storage, and issue of the stamped envelopes and wrappers, and he shall at all times have full and free access to the apartments, safes and vaults where the same are manufactured and stored, for the purpose of inspecting the same; and the contractor shall furnish him and his clerks suitable office and desk-room, for the transaction of the business of his agency, without cost to the Government.

The contractor may also be required to furnish, without charge, suitable and properly furnished rooms for use of the post office in registering packages of envelopes and wrappers to be forwarded through the mails.
